dead by states are:

Vermont, 54.
Massachusetts, 12.
Maine, 5.
New Hampshire, 3.
Connecticut, 1.
Rhode Island, 1.
In Vermont 245 were reported missing.

50 Cities Destroyed
Approximately 50 cities and towns were destroyed, wholly or partly, reports showed.

Army officials, after an airplane survey of the districts most seriously affected, said it would be months before restoration work could be completed.

Into the afflicted area today went hundreds of additional relief workers. Steam shovels, cranes and hundreds of hand tools also were dispatched.

Railroads, still crippled, could aid but little in carrying the relief workers. Most of the workers went by automobile over partly submerged roads. Others went by boat.

Even in the face of its worst disaster, Vermont, through its governor, John R. Weeks, declined government aid and soldiers sent to the inundated region while the flood was at its height were being withdrawn.

The governor, however, appealed for sugar, salt and yeast and steps were being taken to carry these supplies into Vermont by air.

aviators who attempted to reach the devastated area with such supplies yesterday were forced back by snowstorms.

Fear of Pestilence
Fear of flood had been replaced by fear of pestilence in Vermont. Quantities of typhoid serum were being sent to the flood centers.

In Massachusetts the flood waters also had receded, but the situation in some sections remained acute.

Some 7500 were homeless in Springfield, where the state army had been transformed into a refugees' home.

West Springfield was under aerial law.

Other hundreds were homeless in Northampton and Lowell. New Hampshire and Maine were recovering rapidly, but Connecticut foresaw new dangers in the continued rise of the Connecticut river. Authorities predicted the river would reach the unprecedented height of 30 feet today.

Milk Shortage in Boston
Metropolitan Boston, untouched by the flood, faced a desperate situation in a shortage of milk. Hundreds of families spent a sleepless Sunday and only a fraction of the normal milk supply reached the city this morning.

Repair gangs went out to restore railroad service, but sent back discouraging reports.

Miles and miles of rails lay strewn upon washed out road beds. Cores of bridges were down.

SOVIET BANNER TORN DOWN BY MONARCHISTS

"We speak in the name of the future of humanity," declared Nikolai Ivanovich Bukharin, editor of the Soviet newspaper "Pravda," in sounding the keynote of the celebration at a meeting of the Moscow Soviet.

"Only our movement can save civilization from decay."

Enormous Red Star
The international tenor of the keynote speech was heightened by an enormous red star, which depicted the spread of the revolution. Long red streamers, emerging from the great star, led to various parts of the hall ending on placards inscribed with the name of the country whose language was on the streamer. On each streamer in the country's own language was printed in large letters "To All."

At the front of the red star was a large white bust of Nikolai Lenin, the dead "father of Soviet Russia." Sixteen soldiers, with long, drawn swords, stood guard over the bust. In their midst hung red, velvet banners with gold embossed slogans.

Bukharin's address was particularly for the British, German, French, Chinese and Japanese representatives. Alexis L. Rykoff, chairman of the council, addressed the representatives when Bukharin had finished.

"Long Live Revolution"
Josef Vissarionovich Stalin, general secretary of the executive committee of the Communist party, exclaimed: "Everything is ready! Long live revolution!"

The last speaker was a 13-year-old girl, bringing greetings from the youth of the movement. In keeping with the general spirit of the celebration, the girl's address demonstrated the impatience of the young folk with the remaining imperfections in the government. She declared that youth must be given more schools and clubs and be instructed regarding the world revolution.

were known to have perished and between 10 and 13 were missing. At Jonesville four persons were drowned.

At North Buxbury, near Waterbury, 25 persons died. Four bodies were taken from the river at Richmond.

Snow Brings Suffering
Flurries of snow, carried down on a cold north wind, brought suffering to the hundreds of refugees in damaged, heatless houses, or to those camped in tents along the rim of the valley.

Water still is several feet deep in the valleys where it had been 30 to 50 feet deep at the crest of the flood. On the ground left bare by the subsiding waters was a foot of debris, silt and mud.

What once had been highways were slimes covered river beds in many places. Every power plant and factory along the Winooksi was flooded and battered ruin.

At Moretown, it was estimated half the homes were washed away. Many of the houses had been clipped off their foundations.

Business sections of both Barre and Montpelier have been wrecked.

Food Supplies Ruined
Food and supplies have been ruined by the water which flooded basements and crept up to the second floors of buildings in centers of both cities.

Troopers patrol the streets here. Food is being rationed out at appointed canteens. Grim stories of hardships, suffering and rescue are told by persons who lived through this greatest of New England floods.

Fifty-one members of the Apollo club, gathered to dance at their clubhouse Thursday night, were marooned on the second floor of the building until Saturday. They lived on bananas salvaged from a nearby fruit store.

Mayor Edward H. Deabitt was marooned in the telephone company building until he was rescued by a boatman.

Rescues Man With Lariat
Miss M. A. MacAvoy rescued a coachman by lassoing him and dragging him from the stables to the roof.

Mrs. Paul Lacrosse ran across a dam of jammed lumber and debris from her endangered house to the safety of a neighboring house. Shortly afterwards the dam was swept away.

A Central Vermont train was marooned near Roxbury. Passengers ate food in the express car and butchered stray cows in the dining car.

Last Rites Held For Dead Mexican Revolution Chief

BY G. F. FINE

United Press Staff Correspondent MEXICO CITY, Nov. 7.—The recent Mexican revolution virtually passed into history today with funeral services for Gen. Arnulfo Gomez, one of the leaders of the revolt who was captured and executed Friday by the government. The funeral was to be at 11 a. m.

Several thousand persons visited the home of Alessio Robles yesterday to view Gomez' body. In another casket, beside that of the slain leader, reposed the body of his nephew, Col. Francisco Gomez Vizcarra, who was executed with his uncle. Colonel Vizcarra's funeral was held late yesterday.

FARCE FIGHT TRIAL TO BE DECEMBER 2

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—Joe Dundee, world's welterweight champion, Max Waxman, his manager, who engineered the now famous "walkout" at the scheduled Dundee-Ace Hudkins title bout here Thursday night, and Dick Donald the promoter, will be tried December 2 on charges of false advertising.

The trio appeared in municipal court here today before Judge Samuel Blake. Dundee and Waxman pleaded not guilty to the charges and Donald, who had entered that plea last Saturday, came to have his trial date set.

connected with the case until after the grand jury investigation of the alleged tampering conspiracy had started.

Glascok himself denied ever having been at Potomac flying field, where, according to Burns, the justice department man had interviewed him.

Government men said the Burns man apparently had only mixed up license numbers of a car he was shadowing when he arrived at the conclusion that it was a government man who had later been seen talking with Glascok.

"Of course we were within our rights in keeping the jurors under surveillance," Burns said. "The defense has the same right as the prosecution in that regard."

"We had no right to approach any juror."

Ruddy Reports Incident
"We found the government itself attempting to tamper. Our manager here, C. C. Ruddy, made a report to the government on the Potomac flying field incident."

The newspaperman who talked with Kidwell should have been brought before the court. He had no right to talk with that man.

"If it had been a Burns man he would have been in the penitentiary by now."

Justice Siddons refused to see newspapermen after Burns talked and his secretary refused to confirm or deny whether the affidavit and complaint had been filed, as Burns said.

Burns asserted that Thomas Lodge, an attorney, had filed the complaint and affidavit. Lodge was immediately summoned before the grand jury.

Burns also disclosed that A. Mason Day, vice president of the Sinclair Exploration company, who is charged with being "contact man" between Harry F. Sinclair and the Burns agents, had employed the services of the detectives.

New Developments
Three unusual developments scheduled before the grand jury today were:

1—Testimony of William J. Burns, whose detectives followed and investigated jurors.

2—Appearance of Douglas Catchim, Burns sleuth who enlisted in the U. S. marine and prepared to leave the United States when this storm of intrigue and scandal started to break.

3—Return to Washington for grand jury questioning of Sheldon Clark, one of Harry F. Sinclair's lieutenants, who is charged by the government with being a "contact" man along with Mason Day, between the Burns sleuths and their "real employer," allegedly Sinclair.

Catchim, arrested at Hampton Roads by military authorities on orders of District Attorney Peyton Gordon, is being returned to Washington under armed guard.

He enlisted October 28—three days before the jury scandal became public—and was to have sailed for duty in Haiti. November 1, but a rearrangement of military affairs kept him at the Virginia marine base until Gordon tipped off secretly, ordered him arrested.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The condition of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior and defendant in the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy case, was reported today as showing little change since Saturday.

He had a severe coughing spell for several hours today, but his condition was regarded as generally improved from Friday.

til the car got stuck in the mud.

"All right, you can go now. I'll kill her here," Weaver is said to have told Woodman. But the latter couldn't get the car started in the mire. Weaver tried to push the car into a start and, as he bent over, Miss Hughlin leaped upon the back of her former suitor.

Then Woodman entered the fray and the oil worker was disarmed. After a long struggle, Weaver begged for mercy and Woodman and the woman started looking for a farm house seeking aid. As they looked Weaver appeared again, armed with a club and a bottle. Woodman seized a tire iron and a new battle started.

The result is that Woodman is suffering severe cuts and bruises. Weaver had 126 stitches taken in his head. Miss Hughlin is suffering from nervous shock and the oil man, in addition, faces two charges of assault with intent to commit murder.

DAMAGE SUIT FOR $15,000 BEFORE JURY

A scramble to raise funds for a jury fee in connection with a $15,000 damage suit arising from an automobile accident, succeeded just in time today and as the case was called by Superior Judge Homer G. Ames, D. G. Wetlin, attorney for the plaintiff, announced that the money had been posted but a few minutes before, making it possible to have the jury box filled.

Superior Judge James L. Allen was, at that minute, qualifying a new jury and a hurry call was sent to him requesting that the panel be sent over. It was feared that they had been discharged. However, the qualifying process was still on and the jury was secured.

The case arises out of the asserted negligence of L. A. Baumstark, driver for the Sanitary laundry, who is said to have backed his car from a driveway and run over the head of Jose Parra, son of Manuel Parra, of this city. The lad's eye is said to have been cut so severely that a series of operations will be necessary before it can recover. A scar across his head, it is declared, will be a permanent disfigurement.

A. W. Cleaver, for whom Baumstark is alleged to have been working, is co-defendant in the case. The accident occurred September 18, 1926, and the plaintiffs have been able to raise the jury fee with difficulty, Wetlin stated.

30 TURKEYS STOLEN FROM GILDER RANCH

Thirty turkeys were reported stolen from the Gilder ranch, two miles east of Olive sometime last night. The turkeys all were full grown ready for the Thanksgiving market.

None of the members of the Gilder family was away from home at the time. The turkeys were taken from a yard, near the house. Officers Howard and Humiston, of the Sheriff's office, made an investigation today.

EVANGELIST

Dr. D. L. Coale, who is conducting revival services at Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, South.

HOLD REVIVAL SERVICES AT LOCAL CHURCH

"What the church needs today is not more rituals, more doctrine, or even more orthodoxy, but a clearly manifested Christ," said Dr. D. L. Coale, in his sermon at the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, South last night, as he opened the revival campaign which is to be carried on at the church for two weeks.

Stating that Dr. Coale is a preacher of force and power, witty, entertaining, and incisive in his speech, the Rev. Moffett Rhodes, pastor of the church, said today that the minister was heard by large crowds at both services yesterday. Two services will be conducted daily, 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Ernest Burley, tenor soloist and choir director, has charge of the music, and music will be one of the attractive features of the revival.

Following up the thought expressed at the opening of this story, that the church needs a clearly manifested Christ, the evangelist said:

"The spirit of Christ, shown by His followers in every church, is what will quickly win the world to His service. The business of the preacher is only partly to win and convert those outside of the church. Another big piece of work which we must do is to get the folks in the church converted and made really Christian. Probably 50 per cent of the members of the average church are not genuine Christians at all. Joining the church does not make a man a Christian. It takes the change of heart and a new life to do that. If we could make all the church members in Santa Ana really Christians, manifesting the spirit of Jesus, and working honestly at their task as His servants, we could transform this whole community in a fortnight."

Hawaii Develops Live Stock Trade

HONOLULU, Nov. 7.—That the territory of Hawaii can produce other things than good coconuts, fruits, cloths from the fiber of tropical plants, and great crops of sugar cane and pineapple, was seen by hundreds of visitors from the mainland at the recent territorial fair.

One of the outstanding exhibits of the fair was livestock—descendants of famous mainland breeds which have adapted themselves to the great outdoor stretches of the Hawaiian islands. According to stockmen from the mainland, the dairy cattle exhibited showed animals which cannot be surpassed in quality and milk production in any district of the nation.

The dairy cattle were for the most part of the Guernsey and Holstein strains.

One of the greatest surprises a visitor to the islands finds is the number of great stock ranches which exist in the mountain districts of the islands outlying from Honolulu. The island of Maui, which has become famous for the production of polo ponies, also has extensive cattle ranches. On the island of Hawaii the great 250,000-acre Parker ranch, which furnishes much of the fresh meat and dairy produce consumed by the territory, is one of America's outstanding ranch projects.

Train And Plane Route Proposed

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Co-ordinated long distance travel, through air by day and on train by night with a resultant cut of 40 hours in the transcontinental rail journey, is being planned by the department of commerce and several of the nation's railways, says William P. MacCracken Jr., assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics.

One of the tentative combination schedules, expected to cut the 92-hour New York-to-San Francisco run to 52 hours, calls for the trip from New York to Chicago by train at night, from Chicago to Cheyenne by plane during the day; from Cheyenne to Ogden, Utah, by train, and by plane from Ogden to San Francisco.

THUGS BEAT UP PROPRIETOR OF S. A. PHARMACY

Two men, posing as candy customers, held up and robbed W. H. Davis, proprietor of the Davis Pharmacy, 1250 South Main street, shortly before 10 o'clock Saturday night, and after beating him, escaped with $20 in cash, taken from the cash register.

Davis reported to police that he was alone in the store at the time. One man walked in and said he wanted to buy some candy. As Davis walked behind the counter, another man entered and covered him with a pistol, forcing him to the rear of the building.

Davis attempted to frustrate the robbery by scuffling with the bandits, but was overpowered. He then was forced into the lot at the rear of the building while the bandit who entered the building first rifled the cash register.

The bandits had left a machine parked at the corner of Wilshire avenue and Sycamore streets and made their escape by running to it and driving away. Another man is believed to have been left with the machine.

Officers Adams and Perry answered the first call to the drug store and were followed by Smithwick and Chief of Police Rogers. No trace of the men was found.

Davis was not badly hurt. He complained of a few scratches about the neck but was on duty today.

The banquet is for the men of the class, all of whom are expected to bring a boy as a guest.

The well is the largest brought in in the Atwood district since Pyne No. 2 was placed on production. The new well assures a campaign for the deep sands. It is on the old Richfield-United lease, which was taken over by Sam Mullen some time ago.

Limit Placed On School Serenades

EUGENE, Nov. 7.—Forty-five students of the University of Oregon facing disorderly conduct charges because of serenading sorority houses are expected to be freed as result of a student body regulation on serenading approved today by the faculty advisors committee. The rule prohibits more than one serenade from each fraternity singing within a block of any hospital.

False Teeth Are Built Of Steel

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—False teeth made of steel are among the peace products that the Krupp firm of Essen is turning out now. Various grades of non-rusting steel have been on the market for some time, but the new so-called V. A. steel is acid proof as well.

It is the invention of Professor Strauss, of the Krupp Works, who gained the gold Bunsen medal recently for his process.

Steel teeth are said to be superior to gold in durability and are much cheaper.

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster without the burn. You feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frostbitten feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu."

At the first sign of a cold in the head take Musterole Cold Tablets. They usually give prompt relief.

Surprise Dinner Party Is Compliment to Young Matron

Mrs. Kemper Taylor (Joy Smith) was a very much surprised young matron Saturday evening, when a group of friends drew her into a little group which eventually reached the home of her mother, Mrs. Smith, on Minter street, where everything was in readiness for a delightful little dinner party. The group was largely a musical one, so the evening was with songs and piano selections. Miss Laura Joiner, Miss Lorene Croddy, Miss Ruth Coad, Miss Mildred Merchant and Mrs. Taylor herself added to the program. The second surprise of the evening came when the guests presented their honoree with a complete set of silver in handsome design, including the pleasant evening with Mrs. Smith and her daughter, Mrs. Taylor, were the Misses Mildred Marchant, Laura Joiner, Peggy Joiner, Ruth Coad, Vera Coad, Irene Cravath, Lorene Croddy and Mrs. Lester E. Platt. Mrs. Smith returned only recently from an extended visit with a sister in Texas.

Young People Wed at Pretty Service in Pasadena Church

A honeymoon in San Luis Obispo and other northern California cities was the program of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Starr Ozmert when they left yesterday evening after their beautiful wedding in Pilgrim church, Pasadena.

Mrs. Ozmert was Miss Lola Edna Mahaffey, daughter of Mr. Della Mahaffey, 1027 South Main street, and Mr. Ozmert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Ozmert, North Ross street. Both young people are popular with a large circle of friends, so there were many who motored to Pasadena yesterday for the ceremony at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Ozmert's sister, Miss Mabel Ozmert, is a teacher in that city, and she and a group of college friends, decorated the church until it was a bower of pink and white chrysanthemums. The gowns of the bride's attendants, all in pastel shades, made a lovely effect against the blossoms that massed the altar.

A musical program preceded the ceremony, with Mrs. Bruce Le Page (Hazel Miller) as soloist, and Miss Mildred Bowe as accompanist. Miss Leona McLeod played Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus for the procession, and at the close of the ceremony played Mendelssohn's Wedding March. Mrs. LePage sang De Koven's "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly" (Bond) and were a gown of blue georgette with pink trimmings. Miss Bowe chose soft blue crepe de chine, and Miss McLeod, rose-orchid crepe de chine and lace.

The Rev. G. A. Hodgkin, uncle of Mr. Ozmert, read the impressive marriage service, as he has done for earlier brides and grooms in the family.

Miss Mahaffey was very lovely in a gown of French blue satin crepe with accessories to harmonize, and carrying a great cluster of pink and white roses. Her cousin, Miss Mary Maude Cadle, as maid of honor, chose a soft green crepe and carried a pink sweet pea. While Miss Willie Mahaffey, sister of the bride, wore a dainty bridesmaid's frock of maize yellow crepe and carried lavender sweet peas.

Mr. Ozmert was assisted by Claude Lavier of Los Angeles as best man, and by his brother, Paul Ozmert.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held in the church parlors before the young people left on their northern motor trip. Upon their return they will make their home in this city and Mr. Ozmert will resume his place with the Simon-Levy Wholesale house of Los Angeles. He has charge of this district.

Many handsome gifts have been presented Mr. and Mrs. Ozmert, including a number of pretty things showered on the popular bride-elect after the engagement was announced. Among the showers given for her was one by Miss Cadle, another by Mr. Ozmert's sisters, Miss Mabel Ozmert and Mrs. Orville Taylor (Grace Ozmert) and others by interested neighbors and close friends.

After the picture, way was led to Jameses, where refreshments were served. In the group were Miss Katherine and her guests, the Misses Gladys Trueman, Melba Thorpe, Marie Steele, Fern Anderson and Florence Sutherland.

Sisters Greet Friends
The little Misses Genevieve and Lenore McFarren, are the charming young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McFarren of 417 East Chestnut street, and are always particularly happy in that their birthday dates fall within three days of each other, with Genevieve 11 years old, and Lenore, 10.

Saturday afternoon the little sisters entertained a group of their closest friends and school mates at a joint birthday party that proved a most enjoyable affair. Mrs. McFarren had the assistance of Mrs. E. C. Wilson in planning the afternoon's fun, and in serving the dainty birthday menu.

Husband and Friends Are Conspirators In Party Plan

Mrs. Fred K. Halber of 1345 Cypress street, had a pleasant surprise Saturday evening, when her husband, Dr. Halber, and a little group of friends succeeded in their secret plans for a party in honor of her birthday.

She accompanied Dr. Halber to his office early in the evening, and when his supposed errand was concluded and they returned home, the other conspirators had already gathered and secreted themselves in a room adjoining the living room. At her entry, they began to sing "Hall, Hall, the Gang's All Here" and she thought her husband had left the radio on, and went to investigate.

The evening was devoted to dancing and music, and Mrs. Halber, who prior to her marriage was a professional musician, delighted her guests with a number of piano selections. At the evening advanced, the second feature of the surprise was staged, when the host bade his friends accompany him and his wife to Jameses, where a table was arranged in readiness for their arrival. Fluffy chrysanthemums were used as a centerpiece, and at each place were pretty flower nut-cups with salted almonds and mints.

Covers were laid for Dr. and Mrs. Halber, the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Homer of Whittier; the host's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Frisby, and Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Green of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brooks of San Fernando.

Dinner and Dancing Offer Natal Day Entertainment

East Edwin D. Burge of 1660 East First street, planned a delightful party last Saturday night, as a compliment to the birthday anniversary of Mr. Burge. In carrying out her hospitable plans, Mrs. Burge suggested that they go to Los Angeles for a week-end in their beautiful home there at 539 South Mariposa street.

Mr. Burge agreed with the plan, and was deeply amazed upon their arrival, at finding some thirty Los Angeles friends assembled and everything ready for the serving of a delicious dinner menu.

Dancing and music sped the evening hours, and the hostess had arranged special entertainment in the form of half a dozen musical and vaudeville acts, including the appearance of "Jiggs and Maggie," famous humorous pair from Radio KFON, Long Beach.

Parent-Teachers

A regional conference for all Parent-Teacher association workers, will be held in Fullerton Ebell clubhouse, Harvard and Chapman avenues, tomorrow from 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. according to Mrs. Neal Beisel of this city, press chairman of the Fourth district P. T. A. The conference will be under the direction of Mrs. George F. Tilton, fourth vice-president of the State P. T. A. and director of public welfare.

"The program of the day," stated Mrs. Beisel, "will emphasize the seven-fold program of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers which includes: worthy home membership, sound health, vocational effectiveness, mastery of tools and technique of learning, the wise use of leisure time, useful citizenship, and ethical character. These subjects will be handled by national and state officers who will be present, among them being Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, American citizenship; Mrs. F. B. Martin, legislation; and Mrs. H. M. Archibald, worthy membership. Ethical character, Mrs. G. M. Bartlett, state recording secretary; mastery of tools and techniques of learning, Mrs. Susan A. Avoid Poorly Balanced Breakfasts

Start the day with Quaker Oats—food that "stands by" you.

If you feel tired, hungry, "fidgety," hours before lunch, don't jump to the conclusion of poor breakfasts. Thousands have unenergetic mornings because they start the day with wrong breakfasts.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 65% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamins and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers you. Get Quaker Oats today. Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker, which cooks in 2 1/2 to 5 minutes, and Quaker Oats.

Each year brings an increasing number of fathers who are eager to claim their share in the title "Parents and Teachers" and a record attendance is expected from reservations already made. "An Appreciation of Our Schools" will provide a timely topic for the evening with J. Frank Burke, editor of The Daily Register, as the main speaker of the evening, and followed by a group of fathers, L. L. Beeman, Charles Best, and Roland Dye, in short talks on "Our School as an Asset to the Community." A musical program will be given by the school orchestra directed by S. J. Mustol.

BAPTISTS OPEN PLAN LARGEST CONVENTION IN ANAHEIM TODAY YACHT CENTER OFF ALAMITOS

ANAHEIM, Nov. 7.—Addresses by two former pastors of the Anaheim German Baptist church, the Rev. John Berg, of Lodi, and the Rev. A. Leuschner, of Los Angeles, will feature this evening's session of the annual convention of German Baptist churches of California, which opened in the local church this morning.

Nearly 100 delegates including pastors and laymen, were on hand for the opening of the convention at 10 o'clock this morning.

Rev. O. R. Schneider, pastor of the Anaheim church, gave the opening address of welcome at the evening exercises. The response was made by the Rev. F. J. Schiele, of Fresno, who also delivered the principal sermon.

At noon the delegates were served a luncheon in the basement of the church by women of the local congregation, following which the delegates met for an organizational meeting in the main church auditorium. Today's conference is to be brought to a climax in the addresses to be given by Rev. Berg and Rev. Leuschner at 7:30 o'clock.

A devotional meeting with the Rev. C. H. Edinger, of Wasco, delivering the sermon, will open tomorrow's sessions at 9 a. m. Addresses by the Rev. K. Feldt, of Los Angeles; the Rev. L. Ross, of Franklin, and the Rev. Max Leuschner, of Los Angeles, will feature the regular morning session, which will open at 10 o'clock. Luncheon will be served each day at noon in the basement of the church.

The Rev. G. Peitsch, of Los Angeles; the Rev. G. E. Lohr, of Lodi, and the Rev. J. Ehrenstein, of Los Angeles, will be heard in addresses at the Tuesday afternoon session, which will open at 2 o'clock. Reports from various departments of the church and an address in English by Rev. Mohr, of Lodi, will mark the Tuesday evening session, set for 7:30 o'clock.

With the Rev. E. J. Kuemmet, of San Francisco, as the speaker, a devotional meeting will open the closing day's session of the convention Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Other speakers at the morning session will include the Rev. William Kuhn, D.D., of Chicago, Ill., and the Rev. C. H. Edinger.

Informality will mark the closing meeting of the convention, which will be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening.

SEPARATISTS GAIN STRENGTH IN WALES

CARNARVON, Wales, Nov. 7.—Stimulated by Irish achievement in setting up a Free State government, the Separatist movement in Wales has reached a point which is arousing much feeling in the principality.

Groups of young men, chiefly writers, students and teachers, banking on the support of Welshmen overseas, as in the Irish case, have come out in the open and shown their hands, boldly advocating non-cooperation in the English Parliament, a separate Parliament for Wales and recognition of the Welsh language as the official language of the separatist nation.

The great pan-Celtic congress this summer, with its disputes about the singing of the English anthem, aroused embittered comment on both sides and opened the door for the formation of the Welsh Nationalist party, which is growing.

Among the first ideals aimed at is the separate representation of Wales on the League of Nations Council.

The movement has been in existence unofficially for many years and a sensation was caused this summer by the blessing given to the movement by W. R. Hughes of New York, leader of the Welsh-American delegation which attended the national eisteddfod. This increased the belief that the Welsh can count on outside support. Experienced politicians are taking the movement seriously and John Bull has another empire problem on his hands.

Living Standard Reported At Peak

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. — The highest standard of living ever attained in the history of the world was reached last year by the American people, the bureau of internal revenue said in a report showing that the 117,000,000 persons in the United States had a total income in 1926 of nearly $90,000,000,000, an increase of approximately $27,000,000,000, more than 43 per cent, in the five years since 1921.

The bureau's figures revealed an increase in the Nation's income for each year since 1921, when a total of $62,000,000,000 was recorded. It increased $2,000,000,000 in 1922; $7,000,000,000 in 1923; and $2,000,000,000 in 1924, when a total of $69,000,000,000 was earned. The same increase holds true for the average per capita income, which in 1921 was $1637, compared with $2210 in 1926.

"This great increase in income is not the result of an increase in the price level," it added, "for the average price of consumed goods was actually slightly less in 1926 than in 1921."

Orange county residents interested in promotion of Newport Bay as the pleasure craft harbor of the south Pacific coast today were concerned with the announcement that the Long Beach chamber of commerce has launched a movement to make Los Alamitos bay the largest yachting center on the Pacific coast.

The movement is centered around the application of the Los Angeles Yacht club to the Long Beach harbor commission for a lease on 25 acres of water in the outer harbor of Long Beach for a club site.

It is declared the commission is opposed to granting the yacht club many acres of water space in the outer harbor. The commission is said to regard the Los Alamitos plan the best solution of the pleasure craft problem in the harbors at Long Beach and San Pedro.

Suggestion has been made that a larger entrance from the ocean to Los Alamitos bay could be made. The bay is landlocked, it is pointed out. The Long Beach chamber, according to reports, has made a preliminary survey of the bay and declares the project feasible.

LEGION GIRLS TO AID WAR VETERANS

The American Legion auxiliary of Santa Ana will hold a cooked food sale and Christmas sale of articles made by disabled veterans of the World War at the Alpha Beta store, West Fourth street, on November 8th and 10th, it was announced today.

The Christmas articles were made by veterans in hospitals at San Fernando, Palo Alto and at Compton.

Members of the auxiliary and others who wish to aid the sale are asked to bring pies and cakes to the store not later than 9 o'clock Thursday morning. The food sale will be held only one day, but the hand made articles will be on sale both days, it was said.

"Buy a Christmas present from a disabled buddy" is the slogan of the workers.

TELLS AUXILIARY OF TRIP TO CONVENTION

An interesting talk on her trip to France, where she attended the national convention of the American Legion and auxiliary, was given by Miss Nora Lykke, Santa Ana auxiliary member before the Santa Ana American Legion auxiliary at a recent meeting.

Miss Lykke told of a pilgrimage to the grave of Nathaniel Rochester, a Santa Anna who died for his country and who is buried in France. She also reported on the auxiliary's part in the convention, and on a trip made to the battlefields.

The auxiliary announced that it would have a float in the Armistice day parade at Fullerton next Friday, and that the auxiliary would be present en masse.

Settlements In North Prosperous

OTTAWA, Nov. 7.—Canada's far north settlements on Baffin island and the great Arctic area north of Hudson bay are flourishing. Government officials, Royal Canadian mounted police and scientists who have returned from the annual summer expedition into that part of Canadian territory report the Eskimo natives generally in good health.

Dr. L. D. Livingstone, who spent

15 months as medical officer in the Arctic archipelago, traveled more than 2200 miles on patrol duty, treating only six cases in an estimated native population of 1000.

Extended dog-sled trips made by mounted police officers, often alone or accompanied only by Eskimos, covered, in some cases, 1300 miles in blizzards and under other difficulties.

Adverse ice and heavy fogs hampered this year's cruise of the steamship Beethic, which left Nova Scotia, visited the far-flung government posts, revictualled them, established a new post and returned to civilization.

More than 4000 specimens of flowering plants and ferns were collected by Dr. M. C. Malte, chief botanist of the Canadian National museum, who accompanied the patrol.

LES SLABACK SETS RECORD ALL HIS OWN

The flag pole sitters have nothing on Les Slaback, court reporter, who was acclaimed today in the county clerk's office as a record holder of note following a performance yesterday in which he gained the attention of prominent county officials and visitors who were in his audience.

ly had his car repaired and painted. He came into the courthouse yesterday carrying 60 pounds of dictaphone records, and struggling under the load. He has since wondered if someone wasn't playing a joke on him when a remarkable amount of interest was shown in the re-conditioning of his car.

However, he stood in the clerk's office and told the boys all about it, meanwhile supporting the records which it is believed, will make him famous. He thought he had outlined the repair job pretty thoroughly when someone remarked:

"Say, Les, did they put that pain job on with a hose?" Slaback did the stork act and pulled up his right knee, where he rested the box for a change. He used both knees several times before he finished answering queries on the new paint. There was a broad expanse of counter in the clerk's office, where he might have heaved the box while he rested. But he didn't, and the crowd grew larger.

He had finished the discourse on paint and was prepared to move on when someone got curious about the bumper on Slaback's car, which also had been rejuvenated. This person had heard that Les discovered no less than 90 parts in the safety device before it was put together again. Having used all his knees, he left the box on the left one and was preparing to enumerate the 90 parts when someone ducked behind the counter to hide a smile. Whereupon he flatly refused to continue.

There was another curious court house employee, however, who wanted to find out if Slaback was planning to poll the nickel work on the automobile. By that time he was really suspicious.

"No," replied Les, with a Buster Keaton smile. "I'm going up to my office and polish ivory."

HERE AND THERE WITH LEGION MEN

By COLONEL BERRY

A meeting of the Santa Ana post's executive committee is to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Bills are to be allowed.

Last meeting of the post before the Armistice day celebration is scheduled for Thursday night. The meeting is a dinner affair with business following. Because final instructions will be given before the parade and celebration, at that time, a large attendance is expected.

The Santa Ana delegation will meet at the Legion home on Birch street at 9 o'clock Friday morning, and will go to Fullerton en masse. Commander Van Wyk wants at least 150 legionnaires from Santa Ana in the parade.

Because Armistice Day has been declared an official holiday in the state, every business house in Santa Ana will be closed throughout the day. This will allow many men to get away for the day.

Leaders of the Santa Ana post are looking forward to the November 23 meeting of the post, at which time Phil Dodson, state commander, is expected to be present. The stated meeting of the post is set for November 24, but as Thanksgiving comes on the 24th this year the meeting has been set forward one day.

The "Old timers" baseball club, which aided the Legion in staging a baseball game here to weeks ago for the benefit of the Orange County Health camp, will be honored guest at the meeting Thursday night.

WILL KEEP ADDRESS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A two years' fight to restrain the city from changing the address of her home from 1 Park avenue—owing to a joining of two blocks—was won in appellate court by Mrs. Robert Bacon, widow of the former ambassador to France.

SANTA ANA TO MEET LEADERS IN ROSE BOWL

Oliver Will Have Strength Of Entire Squad to Use In Armistice Day Game

"On to Pasadena!"

That was the battlecry at Poly field today where Santa Ana high school's 1927 football squad, dogged and determined, entered the most trying week of its existence. Poly meets Pasadena, the unbeaten and untied leader of the Coast Preparatory league, in the Pasadena Rose Bowl Friday afternoon, Armistice Day, and the contest will be conducted under the auspices of Pasadena's American Legion post. The Rose Bowl is where all of the East-West games are played on New Year's Day.

In more ways than one this game takes on all the aspects of a championship conflict. Certainly it will make or break Santa Ana as a championship possibility and it surely is no less important to Coach Harry Milohin's Bulldogs, who believe they have smelled the scent of the titular trial after many, many seasons.

Bulldogs Are Favorites Pasadena will come on the turf a favorite, of course, because of its fine record this season but Santa Ana will be prepared to offer its best work of the year and Coach "Tex" Oliver, who is prone neither to boast nor to gloat, believes his boys have a good chance to administer the first defeat to the "uncrowned champions."

Blakeney Will Be Ready

Captain Jack Blakeney, who suffered another injury to his puffed-out knee in the Orange mixup, will be ready for the word, too, he says, and Poly will need him because Jack is a great come-back player. After a first string center, broke a finger, tackled an Orange player, and then in three weeks, he is himself again after a long siege with a bed knee so Oliver isn't worrying about his wings.

Jimmy Musick, the real ace in the local pack, has had his troubles with injuries all season but Musick's work against Orange showed he will be available in his Long Beach game form.

PASADENA ONLY UNBEATEN OR UNTIED ELEVEN

Pasadena is now the only undefeated or untied football team in the Coast Preparatory league, the Bulldogs having won their fourth straight game from Alhambra Saturday, 15 to 6.

Long Beach ran roughshod over South Pasadena to roll up a 25 to 0 victory, Captain Mittelstedt making four touchdowns.

San Diego was too strong for Whittier, 9 to 0.

Santa Ana and Glendale were idle in so far as conference competition was concerned.

13 JINX? WELL, POLY KICKS GOAL ON THIRTEENTH TRIAL

University of Southern California partisans moaned and groaned last year when they lost their two biggest games by one-point because the Trojans failed to kick goals after touchdowns. Santa Ana grid gluttons should save a tear to shed for their own high school eleven unless somebody and some touchdowns are "converted."

Thirteen, the "jinx number," however, turned out to be anything but that here last Friday when, after 12 consecutive failures, Poly managed to kick a goal after a touchdown.

The locals made one touchdown against Long Beach, six against South Pasadena, three against Glendale and two against Orange before they managed to kick goal after their third touchdown in the Orange match.

Joe Pironne's All-Stars, making a slap-bang finish, eked out an 8 to 7 victory over the Orange County Baseball club in the season's first Southern California Major Winter league game at the Orange County Fair grounds yesterday. Approximately 1000 fans attended the tiff.

Art Sullivan's Countings got a four-run lead in the fifth inning but Birch, their young chucker, couldn't make it hold, and the Pironne outfit kept pecking away at him, going out in front with a two-run rally in the eighth and making their winning margin in the ninth.

Orange county finished fast also, nicking Pitcher Duncan for a couple of runs in the last of the ninth but was unable to push in the tying digit.

FULLERTON, ANAHEIM BATTLE ARMISTICE DAY IN FEATURE OFFERING OF COUNTY LEAGUE

After fattening their "batting averages" through an easy month of football, the "Big Three" of the Orange County Athletic league will begin battling among themselves this week and, as the pool room boys say, "It won't be long now." The first big test of the season will come Friday, Armistice day, at Fullerton when and where "Shorty" Smith's "Big Red Team" meets the Anaheim Colonists.

Fullerton and Anaheim are tied with Coach Stewart White's classy Orange machine for first place in the County circuit, the "Big Three" having won their first four starts without a defeat.

The ninth annual Orange County American Legion Armistice day celebration will be held at Fullerton Friday and the Anaheim-Fullerton go will be the afternoon's big feature. The eleven are considered virtually equal although Orange, regarded as the smartest eleven in the league, should keep its record intact, although Harry Sheue's Huntington Beach eleven has been improving rapidly and may give the Edwards-Blackburn combination some grief. The clubs clash at Orange.

Tustin meets Garden Grove at Garden Grove and Brea-Olinda travels to Excelsior.

SANTA ANA BEARS NOSE OUT STANTON TEAM

Pushing over their winning counter in the last of the ninth, the Santa Ana Bears nosed out Stanton, 2 to 1, in a fast ball game yesterday. Both sides got a run in the first stanza and fought along the even terms until the last canto.

Spencer, Brown and Richard heaved for the Bears with Mawson behind the log. James and Toney formed the Stanton battery.

Against Whittier Pasadena completed two 40-yard, one 25-yard, four 20-yard and two 10-yard tosses. Van Ornum's pass to Cox was completed over the goal line for a touchdown and another Van Ornum to Mallory, put the Bulldogs on the 15-yard line from where Cox kicked a field goal to beat the Poets, 9 to 6, in the last minute of play.

Against South Pasadena, a confict won by a 12 to 2 count, Van Ornum's pass to Mallory advanced the ball to the 3-yard line and Van Ornum's pass to Strutt on the next play was good for a touchdown. The other Pasadena touchdown was made on straight football.

To Van Ornum passes beat San Diego, 13 to 9, and last Saturday two more Van Ornum shots, along with a safety, beat Alhambra, 15 to 0.

This fellow Van Ornum, the Bulldog "Friedman" is as red-headed as our own well known Mr. "Red" Cooke and he is a genius when it comes to chucking a forward pass, according to Coach Foote, who has "accused" all the Pasadena games, and Foote ought to know a chucker when he sees one being a basemall man of merit.

So Poly's task, its greatest one at least, will be that of attending to that fine aerial attack which has beaten four schools in four starts and attending to that attack means attending to the red-headed Van Ornum.

When a man becomes so great as to become a shining mark for the defense his ground-gaining problem is certain to be a tough one. Fellow backs may escape attention and gain but the blazing star is under surveillance from whistle to whistle and as a consequence the yardage he makes is likely to be sporadic if even that. But that forward passing attack—that is something else again!

SANTA ANA BLOCKS PUNT BEHIND GOAL BUT GIVEN SAFETY, NOT TOUCHDOWN

Fate, in the form of the distance that a blocked punt rolled, ruled against Santa Ana junior college in the crucial game of the Southern California conference with Pasadena Saturday afternoon at Poly field, and as a result of a 13 to 8 defeat, Coach Bill Cook's Santa Ana squad today was definitely out of the running for the championship. Pasadena, Compton and San Bernardino are the only teams that remain as contenders for the title.

Donald Woodington, scrappy center for the Dons and former captain of the Huntington Beach high school team, crashed through the Pasadena line and blocked a punt that Pasadena was attempting to get away from behind its goal line. The ball bounded and rolled along until finally Martin, Santa Ana end, fell on it, but the referee ruled it a safety, counting two points, and not a touchdown, because Martin did not reach the ball until it was back of the end zone.

Team Gets Bad Break If Martin had fallen on the ball in the end zone, the 10-yard strip immediately back of the goal line, it would have counted for a touchdown, the official stated. That would have given Santa Ana the chance at least to tie the score. Most of the excitement was provided in the second half. Neither team scored during the first two periods, although Santa Ana once had the ball on the visitors' two-yard line in the first quarter.

Pasadena scored shortly after the opening of the second half, a long pass from "Slick" Stocks, dusky triple threat star, to Arnold, quarterback, resulting in the touchdown.

Santa Ana came back in the same period, scoring its safety and then making a touchdown, "Red" Guyer, halfback, making the score after a brilliant 30-yard run through a broken field. The third quarter closed with Santa Ana leading, 8 to 6.

Pirates Retaliate Pasadena came right back and carried the ball straight down the field for a touchdown. The Pirates ran the ball well past midfield on the kickoff, utilizing a criss-cross that fooled the Dons, and then Stocks, almost single-handed, toted the pigskin on buck after buck to the local goal. He also kicked goal.

Virtually all of the Santa Ana athletes played well, Harry Weaver, star tackle, broke his thumb but continued in the game. Stewart, Fitz, Martin, Woodington, Casey and Stein started, Lynn Harper who went in at end performed creditably. In the backfield were Beatty, Guyer, Davis, Poe and Twist.

Substitutions: Santa Ana—Harper for Martin; Farrar for Stein; Vance for Davis; Twist for Poe. Pasadena—Berglund for Kasten; Cannavini for Schleimer; Thorpe for Brownlee; Rogers for Randolph for Kawai; White for Kasten.

EDELSON LOST TO TROJANS FOR YEAR

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—Physicians attending Harry Edelson, plunging fullback of the University of Southern California's football team, announced today that the star would probably be out of the game for the remainder of the season.

Since the California game, Edelson's knee has been in a plaster cast. The doctors now believe that an injured cartilage will not heal sufficiently to allow the fullback to appear in togs against Colorado university next Saturday, or in later contests against Washington State, Notre Dame and Washington university.

Unquestionably Cobb is the greatest ball player I have seen in action covering my career of 25 years. It is reasonably safe to say, without fear of contradiction, that he is the greatest ball player of all time.

JEFFREY EARNS LEG ON CUP AT SANTA ANA COUNTRY CLUB

Supervisor George Jeffrey earned a leg on the William Lorenz cup when he cashed in on a net 70 to lead a field of nearly 200 Santa Ana Country club golfers in the monthly competition for the trophy last week-end. J. K. McDonald was second and Don Andrews third.

Ed Holmes won the Class A ball sweepstakes yesterday, followed by J. K. McDonald, M. B. Lacy and L. W. Bemis. Holmes shot a net 74, having a gross 80, Frank Purinton and Don Andrews tied among the Class B golfers. In another Class A division, matchplay against par, B. V. Curry and R. E. Graves were first and L. D. Coffing third.

George Jeffrey won Saturday's sweepstakes with McDonald second and C. D. Holmes third. L. M. Forney topped the Class B field with Otto Jacobs second and C. E. Downie third.

The semi-monthly tournament for women of the country club will be staged over the local course tomorrow, according to announcement today by Mrs. W. H. Haddor and Mrs. R. W. Townsend, chairmen. The contests will begin at 1:30 p. m.

ROCKNE BOASTS FINE RECORD

Eighty-three victories in 93 starts is the remarkable record made by Coach Knute Rockne in the 10 years that he has spent at Notre Dame prior to the present season. He has hopes of going through 1927 undefeated, bringing the string of wins to 88.

BY BILLY EVANS

Knute Rockne is one of the most interesting figures in the sport world. If there is any one who doesn't have the lowdown on this fellow Rockne, he is the football coach at Notre Dame.

In all probability, Mr. Knute Rockne is one of the very few, if not the only coach, who doesn't have to worry from year to year as to his football berth.

The reason: Knute Rockne always delivers, no matter how many stars he may lose from year to year. Somehow, among the freshmen class he always seems to have in reserve, players just as good.

Eleventh Year of Reign This is Rockne's eleventh year at Notre Dame. At the close of the present season, teams coached by him will have played in more than 100 games under the Notre Dame colors.

Knute Rockne is a product of Notre Dame. He learned his football under Coach Jess Harper. On his graduation he assisted Harper for a year or two and when Harper retired, he recommended the naming of Rockne as head coach.

It was in 1913 that the name of Rockne first broke into the headlines. He was then a star player. It was that year that the forward pass combination of Doaris at quarter to Rockne at end smothered a great Army team 35-13 and was the start of an amazing string of victories over the West Pointers.

Captained 1913 Team Rockne was the captain of that team as well as an outstanding star.

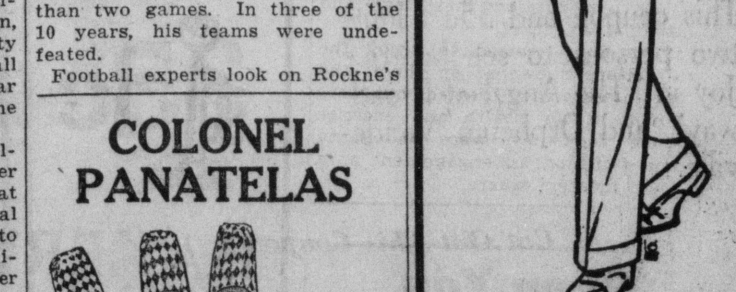

In 1917 he took over the coaching reins. His captain that year was Jimmy Phelan, now head coach at Purdue, the man who treated Harvard to a real surprise this year by trimming the Crimson, 19-0.

In the ten years that Rockne has coached at Notre Dame, prior to this year, his record reveals 83 victories, eight defeats and two ties in 93 games played. Victories in the first five games of the present season brings the games won total to 88, a most remarkable record.

Undefeated Three Years Despite the fact that Notre Dame for years has played the hardest sort of schedule, in no season has a Rockne-coached team lost more than two games. In three of the 10 years, his teams were undefeated.

LOCALS FEAR PASADENA'S AIR ATTACK

VAN ORNUM IS BULLDOG'S 'FRIEDMAN'

That whirling sound which fills the Santa Ana football rattle with the subdued clatter of a loom under full headway rises from the brains of Mr. Gerald West Point Oliver and his assistant, Mr. William Minnesota Foote, who are working night and day devising plans to stop Pasadena high school's forward passing attack.

Those who don't know that Santa Ana meets Pasadena, undefeated leader of the Coast Preparatory league's football derby, in the Pasadena Rose Bowl next Friday, Armistice Day, won't be reading this anyhow and so there is no necessity of going into the lurid details about the importance of the date which, to Santa Ana at least, is just as important as a wedding showing up for his own wedding.

But as for the importance of breaking up that Pasadena forward passing attack—ah, gentle- gent, you may not know it but unless Messrs. Oliver and Foote invent some sort of a plausible something you will be employing that handkerchief for other purposes than a chautauqua-salute when your Poly boys file off the place after this scuffle.

Local gridiron nuts thought the Orangemen had about the last word in a forward passing attack for a high school club when they put up their thrilling, even if hopeless fight against Oliver's "Blue Boys" last week and they compared it to that awful passing offensive that Glendale brought in to the Santa Ana sector two years ago but, as Al Jolson says, "They ain't seen nothin' yet."

SANTA ANA TO MEET LEADERS IN ROSE BOWL

Oliver Will Have Strength Of Entire Squad To Use In Armistice Day Game

"On to Pasadena!" That was the rallying cry at Poly field today where Santa Ana high school's 1927 football squad, dogged and determined, entered the most trying week of its existence.

Poly meets Pasadena, the unbeaten and untied leader of the Coast Preparatory league, in the Pasadena Rose Bowl Friday afternoon, Armistice Day, and the contest will be conducted under the auspices of Pasadena's American Legion post. The Rose Bowl is where all of the East-West games are played on New Year's Day.

In more ways than one this game takes on all the aspects of a championship conflict. Certainly it will make or break Santa Ana as a championship possibility and it surely is no less important to Coach Harry Miholn's Bulldogs who believe they have smelled the scent of the titular trial after many, many seasons.

Bulldogs Are Favorites

Pasadena will come on the turf a favorite, of course, because of its fine record this season but Santa Ana will be prepared to offer its best work of the year and Coach "Tex" Oliver, who is prone neither to boast nor to gloat, believes his boys have a good chance to administer the first defeat to the "unconquered champions."

For one thing the entire personnel of the Poly squad, barring accident this week, will be available for duty against the Bulldogs. "Doc" Hearn and "Bono" Koral, both out of the game for more than a month, are ready for action if Oliver can use them. Hearn was an end before he broke his hand but Coach "Tex" may use him at tackle against Pasadena. Koral, one of the team's three lettermen, will be in the backfield.

Blakeney Will Be Ready

Captain Jack Blakeney, who suffered another injury to his poor old battered knee in the Orange mixup, will be ready for the word, too, he says, and Poly will need him because Jack is a great center through kid, Curt Youel, first string center, broke a finger tackling an Orange player but he'll be in there too. Bill Carroll, a high class reserve end, is also himself again after a long siege with a bed knee so Oliver isn't worrying about his wing.

Jimmy Musick, the real ace in the local pack, has had his troubles with injuries all season but Musick's work against Orange showed he will be available in his Long Beach game form.

The rest of the team, with Cooke and Warner at ends; Reither and Harden at tackles; Manderschied and Warner at guards, Shaw at quarter and Dugger, Beatty, Carlyle, Velarde, Keeler, Rust and Williams in the backfield is in good condition. Rust, who is looked so good last Friday, is to be given a thorough trial at tackles in practice this week.

PASADENA ONLY UNBEATEN OR UNTIED ELEVEN

Pasadena is now the only undefeated or untied football team in the Coast Preparatory league, the Bulldogs having won their fourth straight game from Alhambra Saturday, 15 to 0.

Long Beach ran roughshod over South Pasadena to roll up a 25 to 0 victory, Captain Mittelsteadt making four touchdowns.

San Diego was too strong for Whittier, 9 to 0.

Santa Ana and Glendale were idle in so far as conference competition was concerned.

CARDS. TROJANS TITULAR FISTIC LEAD RACE FOR GO MAY YET BE GRIDIRON TITLE HELD IN L. A.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—Stanford and the University of Southern California stood out today as the leading contenders in the race for first place honors of the Pacific Coast conference.

The Cardinals were returning to California today after their invasion of Seattle with the scalp of the Washington Huskies tucked securely under their belt, but only after one of the hardest fought games of the season. The Cardinals won, 13 to 7.

But two more games are listed on the Cardinals' schedule, and they were doped to take both. Next Saturday they meet Santa Clara in a non-conference game, and the following week clash with their arch-rivals, the California Bears, in what is called on the coast the "Big Game."

On the face of present showings the power of the Cardinals' backfield and the sturdy strength of the line is too much for the rejuvenated Bear eleven and Stanford should win.

Idle last week, the Trojans of Southern California face hard competition for the rest of their scheduled 1927 season. Next Saturday they will meet Colorado, then Notre Dame at Chicago Nov. 26, and the following Saturday the Huskies at Los Angeles.

Idaho is another team not yet out of the running. To date the Vandals are undefeated, but now have played two tie games. An early season scoreless tie with the University of Oregon and a 3 to 2 tie Saturday with St. Marys.

Several stumbling blocks loomed today however.

Charles F. Traugott, member of the athletic commission is quoted as saying that "Dundee will never again fight in California." Captain Seth Strellinger, local member, believes it would be the "only way out of the middle."

Meanwhile, City Prosecutor E. J. Lickley plans to question members of the boxing commission to determine whether or not they took all steps to protect the public in the affair.

Against Whittier Pasadena completed two 40-yard, one 25-yard, four 20-yard and two 10-yard tosses. REPUBLIC SUPPLIES LOSE TO P. E. CLUB, 2-1

Playing their second game in three months, Joe Rodgers' Republic Supply company baseball team dropped a close, 2 to 1 decision to the Pacific Electric Harmony club at Huntington Beach yesterday.

SANTA ANA BEARS NOSE OUT STANTON TEAM

Pushing over their winning counter in the last of the ninth, the Santa Ana Bears nosed out Stanton, 2 to 1, in a fast ball game yesterday. Both sides got a run in the first stanza and fought along on even terms until the last canto.

Spencer, Brown and Richard heaved for the Bears with Mawson behind the log. James and Toney formed the Stanton battery.

So Poly's task, its greatest one at least, will be that of attending to that fine aerial attack which has beaten four schools in four starts and attending to that attack means attending to the red-headed Van Ornum.

When a man becomes so great as to become a shining mark for the defense his ground-gaining problem is certain to be a tough one. Fellow backs may escape attention and gain but the blazing star is under surveillance from whistle to whistle and as a consequence the yardage he makes is likely to be sporadic if even that.

But that forward passing attack—that is something else again!

headed as our own well known Mr. "Red" Cooke and he is a genius when it comes to chucking a forward pass, according to Coach Poote, who has "scouted" all the Pasadena games, and Poote ought to know a chucker when he sees one, being a basemall man of merit.

SANTA ANA BLOCKS PUNT BEHIND GOAL BUT GIVEN SAFETY, NOT TOUCHDOWN

Fate, in the form of the distance that a blocked punt rolled, ruled against Santa Ana junior college in the crucial game of the Southern California conference with Pasadena Saturday afternoon at Poly field, and as a result of a 13 to 8 defeat, Coach Bill Cook's Santa Ana squad today was definitely out of the running for the championship. Pasadena, Compton and San Bernardino are the only teams that remain as contenders for the title.

BILLY EVANS Says

Ty Cobb has probably played his last game in the major leagues. I see he has made an official announcement to that effect. It is in keeping with what he said to me late in September.

Working back of the plate at Philadelphia in a game between the Cleveland Indians and the Athletics, a recurrence of an old knee injury caused me to retire early from the game. I was taken to the quarters of the Philadelphia trainer in the clubhouse for treatment.

A few innings later Ty quit the game to catch an early train for the west in order to make connections at Chicago for a hunting trip he had planned in Wyoming.

Coming into the trainer's first aid station, he shook hands with me and remarked:

"I think today's game was the finish of my big league career. I have had a good season and, if I'm smart, now is the time for me to quit."

Both of us then enjoyed a laugh over a story that I would always hand Ty when the two of us had some slight difference of opinion. It's the same old chatter that umpires always spill to stars during the heat of a dispute.

Often, when Ty would question my judgment or eyesight, I would laconically reply that possibly all he said was true but that I expected to be doing business at the same old stand when he was all washed up.

"Looks as if you would outlast me and make good on that sarcasm that you used to slip me as well as the other boys about being up in the big show after the rest of us had taken our final shower," said Ty.

That conversation strengthens my belief in Cobb's statement that he has played his last game as a big leaguer.

It is a rather interesting coincidence that Cobb and I broke into the American league at practically the same time. He played a few months in the fall of 1905; I made my debut in the spring of 1906.

It so happens that Ty Cobb, at the close of the 1927 season, was the only player still in the majors who was a member of the American league when I started.

Cobb has seen hundreds of players come and go in his 23 years. Yet his last season was one of his best. He finished in the first five batters.

It is to be hoped that Cobb is sincere in his decision to retire and I feel that he is. It would be a shame for him to keep on going when not physically fit to do his best, thereby dimming the many remarkable accomplishments credited to him.

Unquestionably Cobb is the greatest ball player I have seen in action covering my career of 25 years. It is reasonably safe to say, without fear of contradiction, that he is the greatest ball player of all time.

JEFFREY EARNS LEG ON CUP AT SANTA ANA COUNTRY CLUB

Supervisor George Jeffrey earned a leg on the William Lorenz cup when he cashed in on a net 70 to lead a field of nearly 20 Santa Ana Country club golfers in the monthly competition for the trophy last week-end. J. K. McDonald was second and Don Andrews third.

Ed Holmes won the Class A golf sweepstakes yesterday, followed by J. K. McDonald, M. B. Lacy and L. W. Bemis. Holmes shot a net 74, having a gross 80, Frank Purinton and Don Andrews tied during the Class B golfers. In another Class A division, match-

Donald Woodington, scrappy center for the Dons and former captain of the Huntington Beach high school team, crashed through the Pasadena line and blocked a punt that Pasadena was attempting to get away from behind its goal line. The ball bounded and rolled along until finally Martin, Santa Ana end, fell on it, but the referee ruled it a safety, counting two points, and not a touchdown, because Martin did not reach the ball until it was back of the end zone.

Team Gets Bad Break
If Martin had fallen on the ball in the end zone, the 10-yard strip immediately back of the goal line, it would have counted for a touchdown, the official stated. That would have given Santa Ana the chance at least to tie the score.

Most of the excitement was provided in the second half. Neither team scored during the first two periods, although Santa Ana once had the ball on the visitors' two-yard line in the first quarter.

Pasadena scored shortly after the opening of the second half, a long pass from "Slick" Stocks, dusky triple threat star, to Arnold, quarterback, resulting in the touchdown.

Santa Ana came back in the same period, scoring its safety and then making a touchdown, "Red" Guyer, halfback, making the score after a brilliant 30-yard run through a broken field. The third quarter closed with Santa Ana leading, 8 to 6.

Pirates Retaliate
Pasadena came right back and carried the ball straight down the field for a touchdown. The Pirates ran the ball well past midfield on the kickoff, utilizing a criss-cross that fooled the Dons, and then Stocks, almost single-handed, toted the pigskin on buck after buck to the local goal. He also kicked goal.

Virtually all of the Santa Ana athletes played well. Harry Weaverling, star tackle, broke his thumb but continued in the game. Stewart, Fitz, Martin, Woodington, Caser and Stein started. Lynn Hafer who went in at end performed creditably. In the backfield were Beatty, Guyer, Davis, Poe and Twist.

EDELSON LOST TO TROJANS FOR YEAR

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—Physicians attending Harry Edelson, plunging fullback of the University of Southern California's football team, announced today that the star would probably be out of the game for the remainder of the season.

Since the California game, Edelson's knee has been in a plaster cast. The doctors now believe that an injured cartilage will not heal sufficiently to allow the fullback to appear in togs against Colorado university next Saturday, or in later contests against Washington State, Notre Dame and Washington university.

Despite the fact that Notre Dame for years has played the hardest sort of schedules, in no season has a Rockne-coached team lost more than two games. In three of the 10 years, his teams were undefeated.

Footbal experts look on Rockne's

Undeclared Three Years

Rockne was the captain of that team as well as an outstanding star.

In 1917 he took over the coaching reins. His captain that year was Jimmy Phelan, now head coach at Purdue, the man who coached Harvard to a real surprise this year by trimming the Crimson, 12 to 0.

In the ten years that Rockne has coached at Notre Dame, prior to this year, his record reveals 83 victories, eight defeats and two ties in 93 games played. Victories in the first five games of the present season brings the games won total to 88, a most remarkable record.

ROCKNE BOASTS FINE RECORD

Eighty-three victories in 93 starts is the remarkable record made by Coach Knute Rockne in the 10 years that he has spent at Notre Dame prior to the present season. He has hopes of going through 1927 undefeated, bringing the string of wins to 93.

BY BILLY EVANS

Knute Rockne is one of the most interesting figures in the sport world.

If there is any one who doesn't have the lowdown on this fellow Rockne, he is the football coach at Notre Dame.

In all probability, Mr. Knute Rockne is one of the very few, if not the only coach, who doesn't have to worry from year to year as to his football berth.

The reason: Knute Rockne always delivers, no matter how many stars he may lose from year to year. Somehow, among the freshmen class he always seems to have in reserve, players just as good.

Eleventh Year of Reign

This is Rockne's eleventh year at Notre Dame. At the close of the present season, teams coached by him will have played in more than 100 games under the Notre Dame colors.

Knute Rockne is a product of Notre Dame. He learned his football under Coach Jess Harper. On his graduation he assisted Harper for a year or two and when Harper retired, he recommended the naming of Rockne as head coach.

It was in 1913 that the name of Rockne first broke into the headlines. He was then a star player. It was that year that the forward pass combination of Dorais at quarter to Rockne at end smothered a great Army team 35-13 and was the start of an amazing string of victories over the West Pointers.

Captained 1913 Team

Rockne was the captain of that team as well as an outstanding star.

In 1917 he took over the coaching reins. His captain that year was Jimmy Phelan, now head coach at Purdue, the man who coached Harvard to a real surprise this year by trimming the Crimson, 12 to 0.

team of 1924 as his greatest achievement. That was the year he gave to the football world the "Four Horsemen," another name for one of the greatest backfields in the history of the game, composed of Aldreher, Crowley, Miller and Layden.

While Rockne has produced countless great players at Notre Dame, I have his word for it that he regards George Gipp as his greatest.

Rockne's 1924 eleven, regarded as his best, was conceded the national title by the grid critics.

BILL M'KECHNIE TO MANAGE CARDINALS

Bob O'Farrell, under whom M'Kechnie worked as assistant manager this year, will be retained as a playing catcher, Breadon said.

DOGS OF ROYAL BLOOD EXHIBIT INTELLIGENCE

By ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

Royalty was passing by the Register office.

Queen and Duchess, they were, typical in appearance and aristocratic air, of the lineage as ancient and blue blooded as that of Bonnie Prince Charlie himself.

For they were a pair of beautiful Scotch collies, strolling down Sycamore street, with their owner, a rotund little man, whose eyes gleamed with affection for his dignified friends. Queen and Duchess stood thoughtfully surveying the little crowd that gathered close, as their "guide, philosopher and friend" paused to talk to a passerby interested in the two dignified dogs.

When suddenly, without varying his conversational tone the least bit, their master spoke. "Where would you get a drink, Duchess, if you wanted one?"

The shaggy little brown collie looked into his face intently for a moment, as though to assure herself that he was speaking to her, and then passed slowly to where a little stream of water trickled from a wall faucet, and placed her right paw on the faucet.

"Good. Where is there another one different from that?" he questioned, and again the intelligent animal moved along the sidewalk to where another faucet protruded a foot or so about the walk. In the pavement nearby were the covers of depressions where water and gas meters might be read. Following her master's suggestions, (all made in ordinary conversational tone and employing the same words he would use to a man companion) Duchess pointed out one after another of them, distinguishing between the round and the square one, those with metal and those with stone covers.

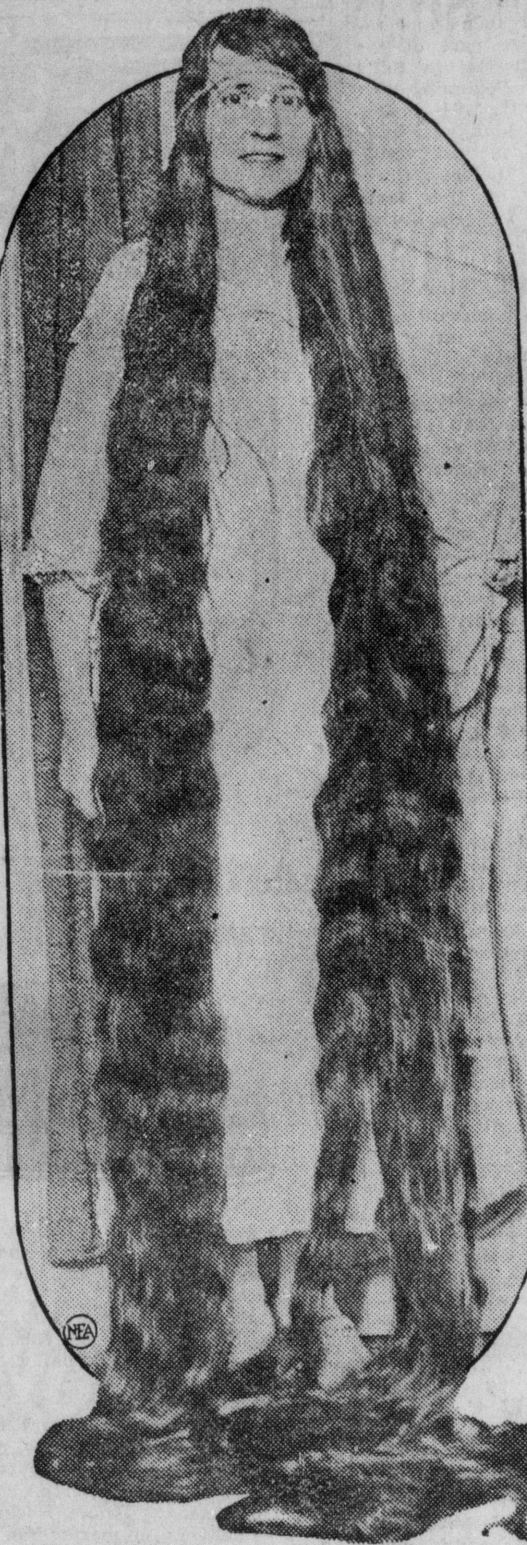

Without indicating by so much as a glance the whereabouts of an unlighted match, her master told Duchess there was one lying near and suggested that she take it to a man with a toothpick in his mouth. The match was soon discovered but there were two men who had just lunched satiatingly, and poor little Duchess was puzzled. "The man with the dark coat, gray trousers and soft gray hat" suggested the owner, and satisfied, the collie crossed to him and offered him the match.

These were but a few of the things done by the intelligent creatures—for their owner denies that they are trained, asserting that both Duchess and Queen have a high order of intelligence, and are as fully aware of what he says as though they were human. Both are pure bred collies, such as are used on the moors of Scotland—not kennel bred as we are used to Scotch collies in this country. Duchess is nearly 12 years old, and has been raised from puppyhood by her present owner. Queen, on the contrary, is a puppy herself, and while she shows the same keen intelligence as Duchess, and bids fair to become quite as well educated someday, at present, there is still the wagishness of childhood in her. (That wasn't meant as a pun.) and she loves to romp her way through life.

Queen is a bit of a clown, and will do anything to get a laugh. But she is a very Charlie Chaplin of a dog, for she wears a most sedate expression even when she is clowning most gaily. Both Duchess and Queen watched their master with absolute adoration, seeming to follow almost every word he spoke. Duchess, he declared, has a vocabulary of over 600 words! Indeed, so intelligent seemed both canny Scots, that as they were turning to accompany their master on further rambles, an interested bystander was heard to mutter "Gosh, if those dogs watched the sheep in Scotland before they came here, I'll bet they know how many there were in the flock by counting their legs and dividing by four!"

The dogs seemed to enjoy the attentions showered on them, and the interest they created, but were not in it for health and exercise alone for they were in Santa Ana fulfilling an engagement at a local theater, where,

Balm to the bob-troubled souls of hairpin makers are the Niagara-like tresses of Shulfrid Sjorgren, of Toronto. Shulfrid has an abundance of auburn justification for the claim to the lengthiest locks in the world. From the top of her head to the ends of the longest strands strewn about her on the floor it is TEN FEET. Natural methods, she contends, are best for treating and preserving the hair—be it bobbed or otherwise.

SEAL BEACH RECALL FIGHT TAKEN TO STATE SUPREME COURT BY CITY ATTORNEY

There will be no more stipulations, motions or demurrers in Orange county courts regarding the Seal Beach recall scuffle. Burr Brown, city attorney, announced today that he will carry the case to the California Supreme court.

He filed his appeal on Thursday, thereby divesting the superior court of jurisdiction in the affair. Despite this fact Brown had a motion before Superior Judge E. J. Marks at 3 p. m. yesterday asking the court to set aside the judgment which resulted in a writ demanding a recall election. He declared that the court issued the mandamus instructions as a result of a misunderstanding of the attorney's intentions.

He had proceeded far enough to discover that the court probably would not grant the motion when Roland Thompson, who, with Charles D. Swanner, represented the plaintiff, objected to the proceedings and pointed out that the appeal filed Thursday automatically placed the affair out of the realm of the superior court. Judge Marks sustained the objection.

Brown argued on the question for some time before Thompson made his objection, trying to convince the court that the judgment could have been reversed. Judge Marks, however, explained that by so doing he would have placed the plaintiff, J. L. Hilliker, of Seal Beach, in the same position that Brown was in. He declared that the result would have been unfair to Hilliker, who is held to be not responsible for any misunderstanding to the decision.

The misunderstanding referred to by Brown is purported to have occurred when the case was first heard in the superior court. The order for the writ of mandamus was made as a result of stipulation of attorneys on both sides. Brown, however, declared that he did not agree to this action, although he did agree to judgment being rendered for the plaintiff on a demurrer which he had made.

Following the court's decision yesterday, the Seal Beach city attorney stated that he wished affidavits filed, making his position clear. He wished this to be done.

S. A. RED CROSS CHAPTER SENDS OUT PACKAGES

Christmas package distribution by the local chapter of the Red Cross to hospitals and to men in the army and navy service had started today with the shipment of 25 bags containing an assortment of miscellaneous articles, it was announced by Mrs. J. H. Leebick, secretary of the chapter.

Shipment of other articles made here by women of seven churches are being assembled and will be forwarded in a short time, it was stated.

The Santa Ana chapter was given a quota to meet a big supply the national Red Cross needs, and the work here was completed a little ahead of time by women who have been assisting in the work for a number of years and who have found great pleasure in making the various articles incorporated in the list of supplies wanted.

The Red Cross here has supplied the material and the work has been done without cost to the organizations, Mrs. Leebick pointed out.

The allotment here included 15 light-weight bath robes for men on ships in the tropics, 10 heavy bed jackets for use in hospitals, 5 layette, 5 card table covers, 25 Christmas bags and 6 bed pillows and 12 slips.

Mrs. Leebick has recently received a request from the chapter at San Diego for a special order, and has accepted the allotment and will supply the articles at once.

SUITS STARTED FOR RECOVERY OF LARGE SUMS

A miscellaneous collection of heavy duty tires, tubes and contested collections for fumigating work, accompanied by a promissory note are today involved in similar fates at the courthouse with the filing of three separate complaints for money.

Roy J. Lyon declared that he sold E. V. Shroyer nine heavy duty express tires and 10 tubes, but that the latter has not paid for them. The value of the assortment is said to be $1102.77 and Lyon probably would have tried to recover that amount except for the fact that he was able to re-possess tires from Shroyer valued at $600. He asks judgment for $751.

R. E. Coffman and P. C. Squire, claimed by the former to have been partners in the fumigating business, supposedly entered an agreement whereby collections for their services were to be divided according to a preconceived plan. For some reason the plan does not seem to have worked successfully and Coffman therefore is suing Squire for $4159.81.

Lillian Yaeger is attempting to recover $4000 from C. S. Gless on a promissory note given to M. O. Bastanchury and assigned by him to the plaintiff. Repeated demands have been made on Gless, it is said, but he has refused to pay the alleged debt.

Two Men Held On Drunk Charges

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 7.—R. L. Sprague, of St. Louis, ran afoul of the Huntington Beach authorities Sunday, when he appeared in what was asserted by the arresting officer to be an intoxicated condition.

F. C. Lenhr, 26, a resident of Long Beach, was in the car with Sprague. The officers brought Lenhr to the police station with Sprague and charged him with intoxication.

SONS AND FATHERS OF CHURCH TO DINE

Sons and fathers of the First Baptist church will join in a celebration of father and son week, next Tuesday evening when the men's club is sponsoring a dinner and a program. The speaker is to be W. R. Litzberg, a prominent attorney of Pasadena. An orchestra has been arranged for, and there will be other special music and entertainment. Boys in the Sunday school are asked to bring their fathers, and the men of the congregation are requested to bring their own sons, or adopt a son for the evening. The dinner is scheduled for 6:30, and will be held in the church banquet room.

DIVORCE SUIT INVOLVES BIG ESTATE HERE

An $11,000 estate now in process of administration is involved in a divorce suit begun in the superior court today with the filing of a complaint by Mrs. Gladys Atwood against Charles P. Atwood. It is alleged that the latter deserted his wife in 1923 and that he is now in Georgia. Mrs. Atwood fears that he will assign the property to someone else or that it will be lost through extravagance before the divorce decision is reached.

Although it is in Atwood's name, she desires the court to award her $10,000 for the support and education of two minor children and requests that a receiver be appointed for the estate pending the action.

The money is said to be Atwood's share of property left by G. N. Atwood and Hannah G. Atwood, his parents. The plaintiff declares she is earning $35 a month and that $175 monthly is a suitable sum to be granted for the support of herself and her children.

NAVY CHAPLAIN GIVES ADDRESS IN SANTA ANA

An interesting talk on the duties of a chaplain in the U. S. navy, was given last night to the congregation of the First Presbyterian church by Chaplain A. N. Park, of the naval base hospital, San Diego.

The talk was the feature of an Armistice day program given by the church, under the leadership of the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor.

That there is room for 149 chaplains in the navy, or one for every 1200 men, but that only 84 of these offices are filled was one statement made by Chaplain Park.

He also gave a bit of history concerning the chaplain in the navy. Park stated that there were no ministers in the naval service until 1832, when congress passed a bill making room for four. From 1832 until 1912 there were only four chaplains. During the war this number ran up to 159, but since the war, many of the chaplains have returned to private life having found pulpits that they liked better than navy life.

Of the chaplains in the navy, the Presbyterian church furnishes the largest number, he said. The Presbyterian chaplains number 16. There are only 14 Catholic chaplains in the service, which is contrary to belief, he stated.

Park gave an interesting account of the varied duties of the chaplain, which called for administering to the sick, appearing as counsel for the sailors in trouble, visiting jails, leading in entertainment and being general adviser for all, both officers and men.

The service was started with a solo, "The Americans Come," sung by Robert Bradford.

JOINS ADVERTISING STAFF OF REGISTER

Filling the position on the staff of the advertising department of the Santa Ana Register, which was left vacant by the death of Jules Hilton, D. L. Mack well known advertising man, formerly of San Francisco has joined the staff.

Mr. Mack has had about eight years experience in advertising agency and newspaper work and thoroughly understands every phase of advertising work.

From joining the Register staff, Mack was managing a branch office of a national advertising agency. His work in the past has not been confined exclusively to advertising agency work, but includes work similar to the duties in his new position with the Register.

Mr. Mack is quite well known in Santa Ana, especially among the business firms and executives and his joining the Register staff comes as a pleasant announcement to many of his wide circle of friends.

he said, in order that he could go before the supreme court with a clean slate. He does not wish to appear to have stipulated himself out of court here.

The final result of the affair is that a recall election will not be called in Seal Beach in the near future, at any rate. Brown intimated that he would like to show the people that such an election is not as inexpensive as may be imagined, recalling the fact that Mayor E. R. Johnson and O. O. Wheat, weathered one eight months ago, even after the affair was contested in court. The same men would win again, if an election were called, Brown believes.

Digs Gold, Repays Money He Stole

LONDON, Nov. 7.—An embezzler whose conscience would not let him alone in a new country amid strange scenes, traveled all the way back from a gold mine in Canada to surrender to the police of his home town, Mexborough, England. Charles Alfred Morris, miner, took enough of the gold mine with him to pay back the $300 he had stolen as treasurer of a club formed a year ago to bet on the races. He used the money providing concerts for the members and, finding he was short the necessary sum to wager on the ponies, he fled. In Northern Ontario he worked in a gold mine, saved enough to pay his way back to England and repay his club. At his trial the magistrates bound him over on probation for 12 months.

GERMAN TOWN KEEPS ANCIENT COURT ROUTINE

COBURG, Nov. 7.—Despite the republication of Germany, Coburg has remained a city with an almost ancient court atmosphere, in which the daily routine, the manners and customs of its population are entirely governed by the four princely households of the former Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria, the English-born Duke of Albany, who is now the Duke Karl Eduard of Sachsen-Coburg-Gotha; the Russian pretender, "Czar" Cyrill, cousin of the late Czar of Russia; and the Prince Regent von Hohenlohe-Langenburg.

The center of public adulation is the Duke Karl Eduard, who, like a medieval sovereign, reigns on a lofty peak in Coburg Castle, from which his pennant of green and gold may be seen from afar. Visitors in town are struck by the incessant allusions to "his royal highness" and by the many enlightening inscriptions that the respective shopkeeper is "pursuing to his royal highness the duke."

When the ducal families enter a concert hall or the theater, the entire audience rises, mothers and daughters curtsying with abandonment and the men bowing slowly from the hip.

In comparison, former Czar Ferdinand leads a more retired life, either at the "Hofgarten Palais," or in his historical "Burglassschloesschen." Despite his sixty-six years, he is still something of a Beau Brummel and an ardent theater-goer.

Coin Standard For Palestine

JERUSALEM, Nov. 7.—A new and it is assumed, a standard of Palestinian money has just been announced in the Official Gazette, to replace the Egyptian standard, which was introduced immediately after the British occupation of the country in the place of the old Turkish currency. The Egyptian pound was divided into 12 piasters and each piaster into 10 millesims, and 97 1-2 piasters were equal to one pound sterling. The smallest coin actually minted, however, was the half piaster.

This system of currency was unsatisfactory to Palestine, however, a smaller coin than the half piaster being needed in the standard of life which prevails. It was somewhat as if half dollars were the smallest coins in America. The British government naturally was desirous and even insisted upon having the pound sterling made the basis of Palestinian currency, and this finally has been decided upon. The Palestinian pound, therefore, is made identical in value with the British, and to meet the needs of the people it is divided into a thousand "mills."

The actual coinage will consist of gold coins of one pound each, silver coins of 100 and 50 millesims each, and smaller coins if need of them arises. The minting is being done in London and two caravans of the new coins already have arrived in Palestine to be put into circulation at an early date.

The decision of the International Commission of Aerial navigation, recently, authorizing women to pilot commercial and passenger airplanes, opened the gates to air fields. But the men who own the air services in France, say they have no intention of employing them as air pilots.

All the principal French companies have said: "No women." Some of them admit that the rigid physical examination required of pilots would protect the public, but air work is a man's job, they say.

Future perfection of airplane mechanics and science, some suggest, may change their attitude.

WOMAN WRITERS BECOME FLYERS

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Novellists and musicians are seeking inspirations in the skies.

Among the latest women to be awarded pilots' licenses in France are two women whose reputations were first achieved in literature and music.

Frenchmen believe that if a woman can fly the Atlantic ocean, that woman is Louise Faure-Favier, who is as well known for her books as she is for her flying.

She holds the world's altitude record for women flyers with a 6500 meter distance. Many of her novels have plots of air and aviation. Her latest novel is concerned with the black and white races.

Mme. Faure-Favier flew the English channel in 1919, the first woman to accomplish this feat. She was also first of her sex to fly the Mediterranean from Marseilles to Algiers, which she did in 1923.

France conferred the Legion of Honor upon her for her literary accomplishments as well as her daring air feats. She has a gold medal of the French Aviation club.

A South American musician, writer and lecturer, Senorita Amalia de la Tapia, has astonished veteran French airmen by her skill in passing the pilots' test in Paris.

Senorita Amalia, who comes from Bolivia, is still in her early twenties, but she handles a plane with daring and skill, although she believes that flying is not a woman's game as a rule.

"Flying takes too much sacrifice and cool-headedness to be a suitable profession for women," she explained. "There are many other matters more suited to them and in which they can be more useful than men."

The Bolivian girl first took to the air in Peru, and since then, she says, her one idea has been to become a pilot. When her family opposed her she went to the United States, where she secretly began to learn to fly. She finished her work in France and last spring was breveted pilot.

But women are out of luck as aviators in France. They have the legal and moral right to fly, but none of the airplane companies will employ them.

The decision of the International Commission of Aerial navigation, recently, authorizing women to pilot commercial and passenger airplanes, opened the gates to air fields. But the men who own the air services in France, say they have no intention of employing them as air pilots.

All the principal French companies have said: "No women." Some of them admit that the rigid physical examination required of pilots would protect the public, but air work is a man's job, they say.

EAT THE THEATER

Leatrice Joy and Ivan Lebedeff in a scene from the picture, "The Angel of Broadway," now showing at the Yost Broadway theater.

TEMPLE THEATER

Don't be surprised if the coming dress modes reveal a Spanish motif. It's in the air. And the cause of all is Mabel Normand, who has the title role in "Suzanna," the comedy drama now playing at the Temple theater.

As Suzanna, Mabel Normand is ideally suited for the character. Her winsome and mischievous personality suggests that of the little tom-boy girl she portrays, while Winifred Bryson fills the role of Dolores.

Carl Stockdale takes a foster parental interest in Suzanna as the character of Ruiz. Eric Mayne, as Don Diego, assumes the obligation of bringing up as his daughter Dolores, and presents even the appearance of Suzanna, not knowing her to be in reality his own flesh and blood.

"Suzanna" is a beautiful story portraying the romantic lives of the historical Dona during the early days in California, detailing the particular Spanish architecture of that period in which this story is laid, 1835.

Salt may be all right to catch birds with—but who would like to try the same method with a tribe of African cannibals?

Ben Burbridge, the Florida man who made "The Gorilla Hunt," also showing at the Temple theater, did so—and got away with it.

Sheik," is at his best. In addition to the feature film and an amusing comedy, is Will King's delightful "Revusical Comedy," presented by Fanchon and Marco. Will King himself offers a new glimpse of a Jewish comedian, and is truly funny, while with him are a bevy of pretty girls and several entertaining dancers, singers, and actors. The choruses are charmingly costumed, and there a little blonde girl who sang "He Don't Wanna" last night, and pleased everyone so much, that she was recalled again and again.

"She's a Sheik" and the Revusical comedy will remain at the West Coast-Walker today and tomorrow. The latter part of the week program will feature Sally O'Neil in "Becky." Beginning next Sunday, November 13, will be Lillian Gish and the long anticipated "Annie Laurie" picture, which has been titled "Ladies From Hell," reminiscent of the name given the Helland Laddies during the World War.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Proving itself a picture far above the average in point of interest, appeal and beauty, Leatrice Joy's new production, "The Angel of Broadway," was warmly greeted by local movie fans at the Yost Broadway theater yesterday.

Appearing in two distinct roles, one a night club dancer and the other a Salvation Army lassie, Miss Joy vested both with rare artistry. Victor Varconi, the patriotic Pilate of "King of Kings," was excellent as a husky truck driver, opposite the dainty star.

There are many dramatic moments in this powerful story of New York's Great White Way and of the Salvation Army mission on the East Side. Babe Scott, a night club entertainer, puts on a new act, that of a Salvation Army girl who mingles with the revellers at the club. She goes to a mission for atmosphere and here meets Jerry Wilson, a truck driver. He falls in love with her and believing her to be actually an Army lassie, he is about to ask her to marry him when he discovers the truth. He upbraided her bitterly and there follow many events that hold the attention to the end. The scene where Miss Joy prays by the bedside of a dying girl of the streets, was highly effective.

The picture abounds with drama, pathos and laughter. Altogether it is quite worth while. May Robinson, Alice Lake, Jane Keckley, Ivan Lebedeff and Clarence Burton rendered splendid support.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

SAN CLEMENTE ELECTRIC CITY. SURVEY SHOWS

SAN CLEMENTE, Nov. 7.—San Clemente, the new community on the coast highway below San Juan Capistrano, is unique among Southern California cities in that electricity is its one fuel. According to R. Wolfberg, electric heating authority, who spoke before a meeting of Orange county architects, builders and contractors recently, and who has supervised many of the installations at San Clemente, that city has the most modern heating methods to be found anywhere in the world.

Buildings of every size, from the smallest homes to the new club building are completely heated by electricity.

"People who have gained their idea of what electric air heating has to offer from the small 'radiant' bathroom heaters," says Wolfberg, "have no conception of what a true heating system can mean. There is a type of electric heating equipment which will give as much heat as anyone can use. It works on an entirely different principle and is given a special rate by the power companies, which places its cost of operation well in line."

"The government has used electric heating for many years up around the Great Lakes, where outside temperatures far below zero have to be counteracted. Here in Southern California, where 50 above is considered a cold day and where the rates for electricity are favorable, electric heating is rapidly gaining users. The 13-story Asbury apartments in Los Angeles uses it exclusively, heating 85 apartments and three stores. It has given satisfactory service up and down the Pacific coast and in practically every country in the world for a dozen years. It is really nothing new or unproved, but rather something which is just gaining widespread recognition."

"San Clemente, in standardizing on electricity, is working out 100 per cent. Electric cooking, electric refrigeration, electric water heating and now electric air heating. Who can foretell what the limit will be? Electricity has such an overwhelming list of advantages, cleanliness, healthfulness, convenience, luxury that it is bound to go far."

32 HYDROPLANES EXPECTED TO COMPETE IN CLASSIC AT NEWPORT BEACH DECEMBER 4

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 7.—Thirty-two fast hydroplanes are expected to compete in the Newport Harbor outboard motor classic to be held on Newport bay December 4. These fast little boats will be attracted from all over California and will include the fastest boats in the country at the present time. It is expected that some of the speed records now existing for the outboards will fall.

The local chamber of commerce, under the direction of G. C. Macleod, secretary, will sponsor the event and it is expected that it will draw a bigger field than any outboard event ever held on the coast. To give variety to the events, several canoe races will be held as well as several sailing canoe races.

The local sailing canoe club, under the direction of Hall Will Smith and Don Douglass, has had an active season and the winter season as planned will include a number of races.

A rowing club that has been in the formative form for the past couple of months is gaining headway and much interest is being shown in its formation by local rowing and sculling enthusiasts. An organization meeting will be held in the very near future under the direction of the Newport Harbor Chamber of commerce. It is hoped by those interested to have the club operating by the middle of the coming summer.

BEACH MAY FILE SANITARY SUIT

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 7.—Franklin G. West, newly appointed city attorney for the city of Newport Beach, may have a suit thrust upon him at once if the sanitary district does not take measures to fulfill its reported agreement in reference to the construction of a water pipe sewage line to the outfall sewer at the mouth of the Santa Ana river.

The matter came up for discussion at a meeting of the city council Saturday afternoon. It was rumored after the meeting that the city of Newport Beach may undertake the task of making the sanitary district fulfill its asserted agreement with the state sanitary commission, which calls for perfect sealing of the old sewer line.

4 Eagle Scout Badges Won By Newport Troop

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 7.—The Newport Beach troop of the Boy Scouts walked away with honors and established what is believed to be a record for Southern California, when four Scouts were honored by being made eagle scouts at one time. These boys were Darrel Sabin, Albert Spencer, Wilford Macdonald and Gerald Davis. Russell Shafer received a life badge.

A treasure hunt was one of the main features of the meeting at the Orange County park rally Saturday night.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 7.—The general meeting of the Ladies' Aid society was held in the Methodist Episcopal church parlors Thursday afternoon.

Plans were discussed for entertaining the Federated Ladies' Aid society of the San Diego district at the local church November 29. The date of the fall bazaar was changed from Nov. 12 to December 4.

Mrs. P. M. German is spending several days with her sister in Downey.

T. E. Niles attended a dinner in Fullerton Thursday, given by the W. R. C.

The Alamitos brotherhood will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening in the social hall of the Alamitos Friends church. A pot luck supper will be served at 7 o'clock.

The speaker of the evening will be the Rev. J. M. Ocheltree, pastor of the Garden Grove Methodist Episcopal church.

DIAPESIN KEEPS APPETITE YOUNG

If you have to force yourself to eat, and invariably get indigestion, sluggish headaches, and you are losing weight, excessive acidity is ruining your stomach.

This excess acid sours your food, turns it into sour bile and foul gases, and you are constantly nervous and upset.

Thousands of people credit their good health and young appetite to Pape's Diapessin. It dissolves the acids and sweetens the stomach so you can eat anything you want. That's why 5 million packages are sold every year. Chew one or two tablets after meals, and you will never have indigestion or be bloated.

All drug stores have Pape's Diapessin.

'SAFETY' TOPIC AT GROVE SESSION

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 7.—The grammar school P. T. A. held its regular meeting at the Washington school last week. Covers were placed for 36 persons, with Mrs. Troy, of Fullerton, county P. T. A. chairman of safety, and Mrs. J. V. Kelsey, president of the Fourth district P. T. A., as guests of the organization.

The program presented in the afternoon was on "Safety." The first, fourth and eighth grades gave playlets. Essays written by the following eighth grade pupils were read: Frances Hammonette, Dorothy Knapp, Dorothy Dales, Neva Fay Gerdes and Beatrice Dols.

Mr. Lisserts, representative of the Auto Club of Southern California, gave a talk, followed by Mrs. Troy, who spoke on safety problems.

Mrs. C. H. Marcher, of Santa Ana, county chairman of magazine and emblems of the fourth district P. T. A. talked on her line of work.

The P. T. A. voted to enter a car in the Armistice day parade at Fullerton.

GARDEN GROVE BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 7.—A large barn, belonging to Clair Head, two miles northeast of town, caught Saturday and was burned to the ground. The barn contained a quantity of hay, a ton of walnuts and an $1800 walnut dryer. The total loss is estimated at over $2500 with no insurance.

When the Garden Grove fire department reached the scene it was too late to save the barn but the firemen helped to keep the garage nearby from catching on fire.

Because of the many fires in Garden Grove recently, firemen suspect that a firebug may be operating here.

MURIEL LONG STRANDED IN BAY. BUCKLES

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 7.—The Muriel, a large vessel that has been stranded in the entrance to Newport bay for the past two years, has buckled in her present position, and it looks like the boat will go to pieces before it can be floated.

Since the jetty has been rebuilt the channel has been scouring out and sand washed out from underneath the stern of the boat and left the stern end unsupported. This threw a great strain midships and that the timbers were unable to stand this position and have buckled.

Several unsuccessful attempts have been made to float the vessel.

HUNTINGTON BEACH O. E. S. IN ELECTION

MESAN KILLED IN TURKEY ACCIDENT

COSTA MESA, Nov. 7.—Harry Bolinger, formerly of Costa Mesa, was fatally injured in an oil well accident in Turkey, according to word received here. Bolinger met his death when the Turkish Petroleum company brought in a big gusher, the sudden rush of the oil knocking Bolinger against a timber.

Albacore, Tuna Are Landed By Three Balboas

BALBOA, Nov. 7.—Robbie Robinson, Jimmie Stevenson and J. B. McNalley have returned to Balboa after several days spent fishing in Catalina waters. Stevenson reports that they did not land any fish while at Catalina but on the return trip when near Balboa, they landed three albacore and one tuna. The albacore averaged 25 pounds, while the tuna weighed 39 pounds and 15 ounces. All three men are members of the Balboa Angling club and were after record fish.

Gets Speed Ticket; Sells Trees

YORBA LINDA, Nov. 7.—E. E. Knight, Yorba Linda avocado grower, sold a quantity of avocado trees to a traffic officer who had handed him a ticket for speeding, it was revealed today.

After the formality of signing the speed ticket had been concluded, the subject of avocados was brought up. Knight painted such a glowing picture of the future avocado industry that the officer promptly placed his signature on the dotted line.

COAST DELEGATES NAMED AT NEWPORT

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 7.—Frank Smith, president of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, has appointed J. J. Schnitzer and J. A. Gant as delegates to the Orange County Coast association. The next meeting of the association will be held in Laguna Beach Thursday.

H. L. Sherman has been added to the chamber of commerce home beautiful contest committee. The contest will take place during the coming year. The original committee consisted of W. L. Jordan, K. I. Fulton and Ernest Grill. The first prize offered for the home showing the most improvement during the year will be $50 in cash and the second prize will be $25.

STANDARD HITS YORBA OIL SAND

YORBA LINDA, Nov. 7.—Having found the oil sand 300 feet deeper than in nearby wells, the Standard Oil company has set water casing in its Yorba No. 1 well, southeast of Yorba Linda lake. The well extends the pool some 300 feet.

Veteran Driller Home from Mexico

COSTA MESA, Nov. 7.—Tom Sharkey, veteran oil driller, who started oil operations in the Costa Mesa district when he announced that he was going to mine for oil, some two years ago, has arrived in Orange county after spending some time in Mexico. According to Sharkey, conditions in Mexico are unfavorable for foreigners at the present time.

The Sharkey oil mine in Newport Heights was abandoned after a long shaft had been sunk in the ground in an effort to secure oil production through mining methods.

GARDEN GROVE HISTORY TOLD AT CLUB MEET

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 7.—An interesting meeting was held at the Woman's Civic clubhouse Friday afternoon, when members and friends met for the regular session.

Mrs. J. M. Woodworth presided over the business meeting. Announcement was made of the all day meeting, November 18, to sew for the rummage sale.

Mrs. Jack Jentges was appointed as a delegate to attend, with the president, Mrs. J. M. Woodworth, the annual convention at Palm Springs, Nov. 7 to 10.

Mrs. J. V. Kelsey, county chairman of child welfare, gave a short talk on welfare work.

A musical program was presented by Ellis Rhodes, accompanied at the piano, by Mrs. C. A. McCullah, of Anaheim.

Mrs. L. C. Denslow of Huntington Beach, county chairman of history and landmarks spoke on early California women.

Mrs. J. D. Price told how she crossed the country in a covered wagon and arrived in El Monte in 1858, moving to Garden Grove in the fall of 1874. At that time there was only one house here which was located one mile east of where the First National bank now stands. Mr. and Mrs. Price purchased 50 acres at $16 per acre, adjoining this place. They hauled their lumber from Wilmington and sent to San Francisco for tools and harness.

The Rev. Basil Silkwood spoke on his experience coming here from Illinois. He arrived here with his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Young, on October 13, 1875. From here to Los Angeles there was nothing but coyotes, rabbits and sheep, he said.

SCIENCE BRINGS NEW RURAL ERA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Rural America is on the threshold of a "second life."

It will be better than the first, says Dr. C. J. Galpin, chief of the division of farm population and rural life in the department of agriculture, in that it will be one of applied science.

"Science," he asserts, "will characterize a second period in the nation's rural life and will stand forth as the genius of its culture."

Although this scientific habit of mind now pertains almost solely to agriculture and some practices of housekeeping, Dr. Galpin observes that a condition established in one department sooner or later becomes operative in all departments of living, and that the effects of whatever science the farmer now practices may be looked for in due time not only in crops, but in human beings as well. The farmer's response to science, as applied to the economics of his occupation, appears as a herald of science applied to all his human relationships.

As evidence of the trend in this direction he cites such examples as farmers' hospitals, rural libraries, modern homes, community club houses, athletic fields and swimming pools, consolidated schools, camping grounds, rural churches of distinction, and modernized country towns where merchandising has been put upon a scientific basis of service and helpful advertising, all "logical outgrowths of agricultural science."

In higher education, too, the trend appears. From 1917 to 1927 college and university students studying rural sociology increased from perhaps 2000 to an estimated 20,000, absorbing the theory that controllable facts make rural society what it is.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, commenting on the same phase of rural life, declares the average farmer of today knows more of the science upon which his industry rests and brings it into more constant application than the scientist of 50 years ago.

Rather than becoming a negligible and disappearing factor in American life, says Dr. Galpin, the farmer, because of his "scientific attitude of mind, and especially his scientific grasp of human relationships, is bound to save and already is starting to save rural society for a social role which will be a noble sequel to its social pioneer role during the first 200 years of our history."

JACK LOCKWELL

By Patten

"You crazy loon!" cried Jack, seizing Willie too late. "You might have knocked somebody's brains out!" "There isn't a whole brain in the bunch of them!" returned Darling. "They've got to give up those pictures!" Lockwell declared, springing toward the door. He went down the stairs in two flying leaps. Rushing out of Hampton House, he plunged into the head professor.

Professor Jamison, called "Old Nemesis" by the students, was a man of dignity. Now he was sent sprawling on the ground in a most undignified way. Jack gasped.

"This is outrageous!" said the professor, as Jack helped him to his feet and restored his hat, book and cane. "What do you mean by it, young fellow?" He glared at Jack.

"I didn't see you yet!" Lockwell stammered. "It was an accident, sir. I'm after a bunch of jokers who took some things from my room." "They must be the fellows I saw scampering away from here," said Old Nemesis. Stopping, he picked up the picture of the fat girl in the one-piece bathing suit. "Is this one of the things?" he asked, looking at the photograph.

ADMISSION TO OUR UNIVERSITIES
AGAIN

In speaking of the rush toward the colleges in our Saturday's column we slipped into not an unnatural error in forgetting the law governing admission to colleges which is peculiar to California. As is well known, the requisite to admission to our own state universities is that the student shall be in class either one or two in his high school work and shall be recommended by the principal of the high school. In the last analysis it is the principle of recommendation that is the determining factor. After this has been done, and the student is admitted, the university watches the student's work and credits or charges the results up to the high school from which the student came, against the principal if the student is poor and for him if the student is good. The student's grades in the university ultimately determine the grade of the high school as determined by the university and hence the judgment and really the final success of the principal himself.

As we pointed out some time ago, we do not believe that this system is a good one. It is neither a fair nor an adequate judgment on which to base the estimation of a school's work or a principal's value. Neither do we believe that students who are unable to stand in the highest third of their class are the only ones who should have the chance to get advanced education. In harmony with this we have had a very comprehensive and illuminating letter written up by a principal of one of the high schools of Orange county which we will publish for the value it will be to the readers.

Education is not finished in our universities or higher institutions of learning. It is continued there, to be sure, but to the real person worthwhile in the world the preliminary years in which one is privileged to have instruction are simply the foundation years for continual education and development. It is not necessarily, and in frequent practice it is far from the brilliant ones in high school and college life who make the greatest contribution in their chosen line of life to the world.

Frequently the student who is unable to measure up to the arbitrary standards of learning established in schools but having the powers of body and determination and perseverance to continue, dig out and give to the world such results of labor and intelligent investigation as to be a credit to themselves and of great value to their generation. We believe the position to deny these a chance is an untenable one for educational institutions to assume.

There are more one and three and five talented people than there are ten and the measure of judgment which the Master exercised in the story recorded in the old Book can hardly be improved upon. It is not the "successful" one to which He gave the reward but the "good" and the "faithful."

OUR FAVORABLE BALANCE OF TRADE

For a number of years now the balance of trade between the United States and other countries has been very much in our favor. Our exports exceed our imports by many millions of dollars. This might be of some benefit to us did we not have in our possession the greater part of the gold supply of the world. The piling up of gold in the United States has been quite a problem. Had it not been that the Federal Reserve bank impounded a great mass of this gold a few years ago, actually withdrawn it from use, we would have been in a condition not unlike that of Midas in the old fable. Midas wanted everything he touched to turn into gold. His wish was granted. His food turned into gold. The water he would drink turned into gold. The clothes he wore turned into gold. Gold for him came to be such a drug that he would have died had not the wish been cancelled.

The United States needs to dispose of some of its gold. The vast loans that have been made to foreign nations in the last few years relieve the situation only temporarily. With returning interest on foreign investments, the problem will become more acute. The only cure for the situation is a balance of trade that will run against us for a number of years. This does not mean that we should reduce our exports, for that would lead to an industrial depression which would make for unemployment, for a waning market for our produce and our products, and for a general dislocation of industry. What we need to do is to increase our imports of luxuries, which our people are more able to buy than any other people on the face of the earth. Our surplus gold exchanged for luxuries would increase the productive power of the rest of the world, and in that way other countries as well as our own would greatly benefit. So long as most of the gold is held here in this country, and the favorable balance of trade is bringing to us more, we are courting a situation which keeps the rest of the world poor, and creates for us a Midas embarrassment of riches.

THE LEADING PARENT

Leadership had departed from leaders, suggests a minister in a sermon about modern youth. "Many parents feel themselves incapable of leading, and are free to express themselves to this effect. The problem will not be solved by fleeing from it. The leadership that will be adequate is the leadership of sympathetic companionship." The great trouble is that parental leadership used to consist to a large extent in demanding blind obedience. Moreover, the standards of morals, manners and religious observances required were based on theories of life that do not seem to fit life as we see it today.

The parents of this generation, brought up under the old regime, realize that it was wrong, or at least that it no longer applies, so they have abandoned it. But so far they are only beginning to understand what to substitute for it.

Until parents can think out clearly what they really want to get out of life for themselves, they cannot establish any principles on which to base the training of their children. And leadership requires that the leader think things out to their ultimate relations of cause and effect. When the present parent is willing to take time and energy to do this thinking, and time and energy to apply the results of it in training, then and then only can we have this leadership by means of sympathetic companionship so greatly to be desired.

AMERICA WILL NOT LOOK SO BAD

Queen Marie, we are told, is being held virtually as a prisoner in Bucharest, Roumania. Bratianu, the strong man of Roumania, does not propose that she will join with Prince Carol and establish anything that looks like a real powerful government in opposition to his own.

The time may come when America will appear more pleasant to the Queen than it did during her stirring journey across our country. Even some of the episodes that were so disconcerting may not look so bad to her with the trouble that she is encountering.

California Tries An Experiment In Education

Scripps college for women, at Claremont, California, was formally opened and its first president, Dr. Ernest J. Jaqua, was inaugurated, on October 14. The establishment of this college, which is unique in some respects, represents an experiment in educational method and organization. The town of Claremont is also the seat of Pomona college, which had grown to the size which its administration considered the maximum for effective college work. The limit was set at seven hundred and fifty several years ago, and the applications now outnumber the admissions by about four to one. Out of this situation President James A. Blaisdell evolved the idea of developing at Claremont a group of colleges, independent of each other in their administration, financing, and general academic activities, but sharing certain resources, such as libraries and laboratories, which can be provided more adequately for a large student community than for a small one. In this way it is hoped to combine the advantages of a large institution with those of a small college. The partial parallel with the organization of the English universities at once suggests itself. But this is not a university. It is a group of colleges, whose common interests are cared for by an organization incorporated under the name of Claremont Colleges. Of this group Pomona college is the first and Scripps college for women is the second. The new college, which is the first college for women in southern California, will have a permanent limit of two hundred and fifty students. It opened with only a freshman class and expects to add a class and a building during each of the next three years.

Quality of Virtue May Be Exaggerated Into a Vice

The vice of oversaving pointed out by a professor of economics at the University of California applies to business and government as well as to persons. Miss Pelotto says that to urge a very poor family to go without what it needs immediately, against a rainy day, or to hasten the rainy day, is saving alone is not thrift. It may degenerate into miserliness and privation. Thrift consists of spending as well as saving, but spending wisely. It is not good for individuals, and it is not good for business in general for people to hoard money. When persons, or business, or government needs something it can afford it is a real thrift to buy it and extravagance to refrain. Extravagance is a serious vice, but oversaving runs it a close second. It is wise to provide for the future, but it is imperative to provide for the present.

SCIENCE STILL PUZZLED ON FUNCTION OF SPLEEN

In the abdomen lies a large pulpy organ known as the spleen, which, according to popular tradition, has some association with emotions of anger. The phrase to "vent one's spleen" had relationship to a release of wrath.

Strangely enough the exact functions of this organ in the human body have not yet been satisfactorily determined although much time and money have been spent in research.

Not long ago certain investigators asserted that the spleen could be observed in contraction under certain conditions. The theoretical explanation was offered that this contraction was due to a discharge of blood from the organ.

Blood Cells Theory
For some time it has been thought that the organ was especially concerned with the chemistry of the blood and with the manufacture of new blood cells. Quite recently British investigators have developed some ingenious experiments which throw new light on the functions of the organ.

In animals it is possible to insert a celluloid window into the body and to watch the functions of the organ directly. It is also possible to study its relations under the X-ray, particularly when air or gas is injected into the abdomen. Again it is possible to transplant the organ outside the abdominal cavity and thus to observe its action under various conditions.

The organ is insensitive. It seems to be involved in the control of the blood volume. If an animal exercises severely the spleen shrinks due to the discharge of blood from it into the circulation. In exercise also it contracts and seems to act as a sort of fine adjustment toward controlling the amount of blood in circulation.

Reservoir of Blood
It is possible for the human body to supply blood to one organ at the expense of another. The British observers found that in the most active exercise of which an animal is capable, the kidney may be deprived of blood to the extent of being actually injured.

Obviously it is desirable to have a reservoir like the spleen to take care of adjustments and prevent damage to an organ of the importance of the kidney. In times of great struggle the physiologists point out, it is desirable that the animal should survive as the result of muscular strength, even though some damage to the kidney may result. The muscles must have the last ounce of blood they can get, in order to save the animal's life.

In less severe occasions the spleen can provide the extra blood needed and save the draw that otherwise might be made on the vital organs. It is interesting to know that psychological or emotional processes that are likely to culminate in violence also cause the spleen to become pale and to contract somewhat, anticipating the actual exercise.

The contraction of the spleen seems to be subject to control through the nervous system, which serves also to link up its action with the brain centers during strong emotions.

Playing the Game

John D. Rockefeller, playing golf at Pocantico Hills, has developed a hook to his drive. Golfers know what a pesky thing that is and how hard it is to get rid of. You hook your ball when you strike it in such a way that it curves to the left; a slice is a curve in the opposite direction.

Golf is one of the best tests of men there is. You learn from a man's golf game how well he can stand disappointments, and how he takes his successes as a ten-yard putt. You learn how persistent he is, or how easily beaten. You find out what kind of a sport he is, thus, what kind of a man.

When some golfers hook or slice their balls, they look at the ground, as though to blame Mother Earth for their sudden defeat. Some look at their clubs, as though some imperfection in its construction had been suddenly revealed. Some men laugh; others swear. When John D. Rockefeller, at 88 years hooks his ball, he shows no ill feeling whatever. "Such is golf," was the only remark a newspaper writer heard him make the other day after one of those disastrous shots.

Such is golf, indeed, and such is life. The philosophy, to be logical, though, should bring the same attitude on moments of success, such as making a hole in two. After a particularly good putt, Rockefeller merely said, "Not bad." He has balanced his philosophy to both victory and defeat, it seems.

The water hole on John D.'s private course, with a 120-yard carry, also offers a chance to learn something important. John D. never used to play it. But the knowledge that the hole was part of the course and that until he played it he would not be playing the game, irked him. He practiced long and hard until he was its master. Now he shoots that hole regularly and likes it. Men often like best that which has given them the hardest struggle.

Besides, to skip a hole would be like skipping a disagreeable job in life, taking the easiest way. It wouldn't be golf and it wouldn't be life. Life is best when played all the way through, to the last hole, bravely and cheerfully.

CURRENT COMMENT

By CHESTER H. ROWELL

DR. CADMAN, president of the Federal Council of Churches, suggests a 50-year truce in theological disputes. "I plead for union upon an irreducible minimum of faith," says Dr. Cadman.

That is exactly the difficulty. What is the "irreducible minimum?" The Catholic says that it must at least include the unity and authority of the Church—which is exactly what the Protestant will not accept. The Fundamentalists insist that it must at least include the infallibility of the Bible—which is exactly what the Modernist will not accept. All three say that it must center in the person of a deified Christ—which is exactly what the Unitarian will not accept. Each thinks something essential which the others insist on treating as non-essential. And all the more orthodox ones are sure that God has attached the key of salvation to some particular point on which they differ from the others. They dare not be more tolerant than they think God is. Dr. Cadman, apparently, can get his truce only after everybody is a Modernist. And then he will not need it.

INTERESTING news from the New Zealand mandate of Western Samoa: A royal commission has dismissed the charges of sedition made by Sir George S. Richardson, administrator, against the Citizens' Committee, representing certain local traders and professing to speak also for disaffected natives.

Behind the whole truth, at least so far as the white complainants are concerned, is prohibition. New Zealand itself is wet, but its government imposes prohibition on Samoa. The white traders do not object to that; in fact they approve it. But they raise in spluttering indignation when they are included in it. Prohibition is for "natives"; not for lordly white men. What is the use of belonging to the "superior" race, if you have to obey the same laws as other people?

SENATOR Hiram Bingham, whose missionary ancestry gives him a different background, continues his crusade against the same arrogant race discrimination of the white man, in the social relations of life. He refused an invitation in Manila when he found that his Filipino friends would not be permitted to attend. He tells stories of brutally contemptuous treatment of the most superior Chinese by decidedly inferior Europeans in Hongkong. This arrogance of racial caste, he says, is precisely the most menacing factor to the permanence of the white man in the East. If white petty officials or obscure chance visitors in an Oriental country are to treat even the highest and most cultured natives of the country as no white man anywhere will consent to be treated, the east will not consent permanently to having dealings with Europeans (this includes Americans) on that basis, no matter how advantageous otherwise the relation may be. The coolie is willing to be treated as a coolie, provided it is because he is a coolie, but not if it is a race discrimination applied also to the highest of his people. Against that, at the top, the whole people revolts. And if the white man can not unlearn it, his place in the east is doomed.

EDITOR Harrison, of San Bernardino, complains that the new tax commission, under the governor's announcement, is to make no "revolutionary change" in the present tax system, which he thinks is exactly what it needs. It should be understood that the governor's announcement was not an instruction to his commission, or even a conclusion of his own. It was merely a warning to those who might be expecting something sensational from this commission that possibly nothing very startling might happen. The

The Best Parlor

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS.

NOT so long ago when we spoke of old-fashioned things, we felt the term well defined. We smiled a little in tolerance of pretty sentiments, and turned smugly to our modern furnishings. Now we're not so sure about old-fashioned things being of the past. What with our treasured hooked rugs, our shawls, what-nots and vases, we're coming to realize that "Old-fashioned" is only an approximate word designating some fashion of the past, but not necessarily any less desirable than a prevailing mode. It is deplorable to find a child with no respect but for his own prevailing fancies. We do not wish him always to copy the old-fashioned, but surely there is so much of beauty and worth in bygone that they should at least be respected.

MY Great-Aunts have TWO parlors in their house!

There's one they open nearly every day;
The swing doors of the other are shut tight
Till someone 'SPECIAL happens' round their way.
And I'm MOST 'SPECIAL' there, you see,
Because they ALWAYS open them for me!

Aunt Sarah Jane unlatches both the doors,
Aunt Emily pulls the curtains by their strings.
So there's the sunshine through the colored glass,
And I may stay, if I don't handle things:
But it's all right to walk about and loo!
At all the things like in a story book.

A CRYSTAL chandelier hangs from above,
The portraits on the walls are families.
The great branch in the corner holds an owl,
I guess, perhaps, it's from our family tree.
The flowers on the table 'neath their dome
Are feather ones and spell, "Our Home Sweet Home."

The horsehair chairs are shiny, slippery black,
The vases on the what-not are so gay,
A china dog and cat sit on the hearth,
And a music-box plays softly, "Nellie Gray."
I always feel I'm walking in a trance.
I wish WE had two parlors like my Aunts.
